Sunday Reflection – Seventeenth Sunday in Ordinary Time

What do we treasure the most and how do we keep it from being lost or stolen? In a peasant community the best safe was often the earth. The man in the parable (Matthew 13:44) "went in his joy" to sell everything. Why? Because he found a treasure worth possessing above all else, he had. He did not, however, have enough to buy the treasure. Fortunately, he only needed enough to buy the field. In a similar fashion, God offers his kingdom of righteousness, peace, and joy as incomparable treasure at a price we can afford! We can't pay the full price for the life which God gives us, but when we exchange our life for the life which God offers, we receive a treasure beyond compare.

When we discover the kingdom of God, we receive the greatest possible treasure - the Lord himself. Selling all that we have to obtain this incomparable treasure could mean many things - our friends, job, our "style of life," what we do with our free time, etc. Treasure has a special connection to the heart, the place of desire and longing, the place of will and focus. The thing we most set our heart on is our highest treasure. In this parable what does the treasure of the kingdom refer to? It certainly refers to the kingdom of God in all its aspects. But in a special way, the Lord himself is the treasure we seek. Is the Lord the treasure and delight of our hearts?

St. Christopher

St. Christopher is the patron saint of travelers who gave his life to the service of Christ and others.

He is believed to have been a large man - 7.5 feet tall - with a fearsome face and immense strength. But more importantly, he was a spiritual giant and a model and inspiration for the Christian faithful.

Feast Day: July 25

St. Christopher's given name was Reprobos. He decided one day that he wanted to serve the greatest king he could. He presented himself before his local ruler and entered service, until he noticed the king cross himself at the mention of the devil, revealing that the king believed the Devil to have more power.

Reprobos then decided to serve the Devil. During his search, he encountered a band of thieves, whose leader referred to himself as the Devil. But when this leader avoided a Christian cross out of fear, Repobos learned there was someone even more powerful than the Devil.

He then found a hermit who taught him all about Christ, the King of Kings. The hermit suggested that he spend his life in prayer and fasting, a thing which this large and probably often hungry man found difficult, so he objected. The hermit then suggested he find something else that would please Christ. Repobos offered to work at a nearby river to help travelers across. The fording was dangerous and many with less strength had drowned. The hermit advised Repobos that this would please Christ.

One day a child arrived to be carried across the river. Repobos took the child upon his shoulders, but as he crossed the river, the child grew heavier until Repobos feared he would fall and that they would both drown.

When he asked the child why he was so heavy, the child revealed that he was Jesus Christ and that he was heavy with the weight of the world's sins. Not one to give up, Repobos forged ahead with considerable difficulty and crossed the river with the Christ child on his shoulders. When they reached the opposite bank, Christ asked Repobos to press his staff into the ground. When he did, the staff turned into a beautiful flowering tree, and he was rewarded. Christ then baptized Repobos in the river and gave him his Christian name "Christopher" which means Christ-bearer. Christopher spent the remainder of his life in the service of Christ and worked tirelessly to spread Christ's teachings.

Act of Spiritual Communion

My Jesus,

I believe that You are present in the Most Holy Sacrament.

I love You above all things, and I desire to receive You into my soul.

Since I cannot at this moment receive You sacramentally, come at least spiritually into my heart.

I embrace You as if You were already there and unite myself wholly to You.

Never permit me to be separated from You.

Amen.

Blessed are you Father,
Lord of heaven and earth;
for you have revealed to little ones
the mysteries of the kingdom.

Matthew 11:25
