I met Sundeep a few months ago. In that short period of time he has managed to transform my energy, my outlook, and my emotions. He has a quiet way of creating sacred space for my soul to heal and expand. His energy is safe, uplifting, and inspiring all at the same time.

If you are ready to move in to more of your own personal power and explore the magnificent creation that is you, I highly recommend Sundeep as your guide.

I started getting these horrible migraines about one and a half years ago shortly after wearing night guards for my upper teeth. Prior to that, I had never had bad headaches or even knew what migraines meant or how they affected your daily health and wellness. Every time I got a migraine, my life stopped and brought fear of the next time when it would arrive. It came with distorted vision which led to nausea and overall physical weakness. That followed with horrible pounding headaches which were unbearable to a point where I was unable to focus on anything and would have to go to sleep immediately. On average, I got 4-5 migraines a month, and suffered 6-7 hours per migraine. I underwent numerous doctor and specialist visits for explanations and tests ranging from general doctors to eye specialists to acupuncture and even Aryurvedic treatments, but none were able to explain clearly understand its root cause or source. Furthermore, they were also unable to provide any solutions or suggestions for any relief.

I started investigating beyond standard treatments and finally chose Energy Healing with Sundeep Jay. I have been doing healing once to twice a month for over three months now, and for the first time last month I could confidently say that I had no migraines in over 45 days! The feeling of not having detrimental headaches for a whole month was indescribable and beyond words. I feel free and I am so thankful and grateful to Sundeep for making me believe that everything is curable with Energy Healing. I highly recommend Energy Healing to everyone who has been going through any severe pain or problems or symptoms alike. Getting the right person to understand your specific problem and determine a solution is essential, and I'm speaking from my real personal experience where I tried multiple specialists and doctors.

I have known Sundeep for over fifteen years, and I could tell you that he is one of most knowledgeable, honest, kind, gentle, and very thoughtful person I have ever met. He has been very supportive and thorough in his analysis and has definitely exceeded my expectations by giving me honest advice. I highly recommend Sundeep Jay for his Energy Healing and I trust that you will not regret your decision.

When I met Sundeep , I had some very serious problems with my health. I started having these anxiety/panic attacks that were extremely scary and to make matters worse..., I feared the loss of my career. But after I received my first healing from Sundeep, I instantaneously had this feeling of well being and peace. There is some kind of power in those healing sessions. I called Sundeep for 2 more energy healing sessions, because after the first session I was in awe. He also did a long distance healing where he called me first and then had me lay down while he did a healing session from his home. This session worked just the same – I guess this is what is called energy. I am now completely in control of my anxiety/panic attacks. I have better control over my thoughts and my anxiety. There are a few things he taught me which I do periodically when I feel uneasy and or stressed out from work. What he taught me helps my false fear disappears. I would highly recommend at least one session with Sundeep to try it out. Trust me you will not regret it.
