BIG IDEAS!

Lora and her big ideas

Folks just love to work with and for our 'never-met-a-stranger' Lora! After working hard in the heat, they always thank her for the opportunity to be invited to share the load. So as I pondered on the wonder of people thanking The Ranch for being able to work here, this came to mind. Do you think it was divinely inspired?

You'll thank The Ranch for the fun once you have our projects done.

Lora was asked to help keep this 9-year old lad busy. She has him scooping an abundance of fallen mesquite tree beans off the Expedition.

Eager to help with a smile.

REVIVAL RACING has a big idea.

They are having a cool event at the Ranch. Here is the rough draft of the original flyer. Will follow up next after the event to let you know how it went. Stay tuned.

Out-of-State Volunteers' big idea.

Darrel and Jane from Nebraska are just one example of our beloved volunteers. Jane recently told me that she loved the times they spent their winters at the Ranch on various projects. "The very best part of being there was that everyone was always talking about what Jesus was doing. And we also liked being part of a group where we were all working on the same job," she shared with me over the phone. And of course, Jane and Darrell, were excellent at Pegs and Jokers (a board game) and Hand and Foot (card game). Lord willing, this precious couple will be joining us again this winter for a while. Keep me posted, Jane. Praying for you both.

This photo taken on a rainy pre-dawn day last week.
The 'stars' are actually the reflection of the camera flash against the droplets.

God's big idea is Jeremiah 29:11

Ana's big idea

My idea was to compose this Tidbits at the very end of September because I will be in New York during the first part of November. So if this news is not as accurate as it seems it should be, you'll know why.
