Our March for Life Experience

Our March for Life Experience

Our presence at the March For Life events in Washington DC this past week attracted many well wishers, supporters, and curiosity seekers. Organized and led by Catholics since its inception in 1974, Jewish participation was seen by many as a positive development in the Committee's need to diversify the base of support necessary to change hearts, minds, and laws.

At our table at the Expo we spoke to a wide variety of people from all over the world. Among those Catholics and Christians were many with Jewish ancestry, Jewish relatives, and Jewish friends. The majority of these confessed bewilderment with the secular Jewish support and use of unlimited abortion. We did our best to explain the insanity of demographic and spiritual suicide of Jews by Jews in the post Holocaust era. One woman spoke of visiting the Holocaust Museum during her visit to the District. She prophesied an Abortion Holocaust Museum being built in the future, when our country realizes our terrible civil and human rights mistake and all its ramifications.

We handed out informational materials about our work and raffled off 2 shofars. A special welcome to our new subscribers who signed up at the Expo!

The Rally attracted a huge crowd. Our banner caught the attention of a reporter from US News and World Report. I cry every year at the Rally, so it was no surprise to me that I cried during the interview with her.

Our conversation drew in other people standing nearby, evolving into a friendly and heart warming opportunity for connection between Jew and gentile pro-life supporters.

The Rally hosted many great speakers, among them our President, members of the Congressional Pro-Life Caucus, and leaders in the pro-life movement. Watch the Rally here.

We marched for a short while before heading home. The enormous crowd filled the streets with singing, prayer, posters of all colors and sizes, and a powerful appeal to our leadership in Washington to pay attention to and correct this injustice.

We extend special gratitudes to the March For Life Committee for offering us a free table at the Expo, to our financial supporters who made it possible for us to travel and stay in very expensive Washington DC, and to all of you who continue to provide moral support for our efforts to promote alternatives to abortion in the Jewish community.

Gevalt! It IS alive before It's born!
