

Vince Lusardi, 56, is a 1977 graduate of Brentwood High School. As a child, he lived with his parents, Ann and Herman Lusardi, 3 brothers, and a sister on Heathmore Avenue.

Vince currently resides with his wife, Kim, and three children, Alexandra, Jacob, and Vincent in Dormont. Vince enjoyed music, hiking and the outdoors, and his beloved Harley Davidson before the effects of this terrible disease, cancer, took hold.

Vince is also the proud dog owner of Duncan and Luna. Known throughout the South Hills as the dog walker, he could also be seen walking several miles in a day with Duncan.

In 2008 after a routine eye exam, he was diagnosed with Anaplastic Oligodendroglioma. He underwent emergency surgery removing 95% of a baseball size tumor. He has gone through multiple chemotherapy and radiation treatments over the years and continues clinical trials seeking any hope of a cure. Vince has hit a point in his disease where conventional medicine is no longer effective, but he is keeping a positive outlook and hopes one day to feel well enough to be out walking his dogs.

Vince is not the first member of his family to be affected by cancer. One of his brothers succumbed to the disease as a child and his father passed away due to cancer in recent years.

Vince and his family are very thankful for all the support and prayers he has received over the years.
