- Implementation Project Management

For any company, changing business system is a scary business – it’s a bit like Open Heart Surgery for your whole company – and everyone has heard plenty of disaster stories... but it doesn’t have to be like that -If you use experienced people. Many of the key success factors for an ERP implementation lie in the hands of the Project Manager. Constraining the scope, limiting customisations, managing the vendor and ensuring the right resources are available all require a skilled hand, developed from years of implementation experience. Your business is unique, but the challenges of a project seldom are, and Absolute ERP project managers will guide you through.

Our functional and technical consultants will provide the knowledge, continuity and experience you need to get your employees confident in using the system quickly and cost effectively. Many consultants will only advise you on the functionality options that you have, we are not afraid to recommend which ones we judge to be most appropriate to your business process.

- Full Business system audit

If you already have IFS Applications, but feel that you could be getting more benefit than you are, we can help you to assess your use of the system against benchmarks from your industry and others, and can recommend the changes that you need to make in order to progress. Our standard audit tools enable us to quickly highlight the actions needed to drive rapid improvement.

- Strategic plan development

Absolute ERP will often follow up on recommendations from a Business System audit to help you to structure, plan and execute the required changes to get your ERP to really deliver.

- Process Design and Enhancements

Nobody knows your business better than you and your staff, but you may not have the skills or the time to make the changes you need to your key processes to generate real improvements.

- Upgrades and Scope Extensions

Whether you need a simple ‘technical’ upgrade, or a full business process re-engineering, you will need experienced project management and application consultancy to guide you and ensure the change is completed on-time and within budget. Absolute ERP know the potential pitfalls, and how to avoid them – controlling the scope, managing the process and training your own team.

- System Architecture and business continuity

If you are unsure of how to best deploy your IFS system to give maximum security, reliability and performance, experience of many projects means that we can help with that too.
