

Our Legal Notice

Any text, data, artwork, graphics and information appearing on this web site and on any other linked sites is provided for informational purposes only, and is the exclusive property of The Willman Group (hereafter referred to as 'TWG'), unless otherwise noted.

TWG retains and reserves all rights to the ownership and any commercial and/or business use of the text, data, artwork, graphics and information created by us solely or by joint-venture only, which appear on this web site.

TWG makes no representations or warranties that the text, data, artwork, graphics or other information on this web site and or any linked web site is accurate, complete or current. Text, data, artwork, graphics or other information on this web site and or linked sites may be outdated, contain technical errors and or typographical errors. Thus, we assume no responsibility to update any text, data, artwork, graphics or other information contained on this web site or contained on any linked web site.

Visitors to this web site or to a linked web site may view, print and copy any content found on this web site provided that any use by the visitor to this web site or a linked web site is limited to informational or non-consumer purposes only. No text, data, artwork, graphics and information appearing on this web site may be modified in any way, nor may this material be distributed and/or disseminated to third parties without consent.

No visitor may delete any designation of a trademark, copyright or proprietary ownership or indicate and/or relating to any text, data, artwork graphics or other information which is copied and/or printed, by the visitor. No text, data, artwork, graphics or other information, which is copied and/or printed may be modified, altered and/or amended. Any artwork and/or graphics copied and/or printed must include the accompanying written text to which the artwork and graphics relate.

TWG maintains no control over the content of any text, data, artwork, graphics or other information appearing on any linked Internet-based web sites. Therefore, we assume no responsibility to monitor and/or edit any text, data, artwork, graphics or other information contained on linked web sites which are beyond our control.

We may occasionally monitor the use of our web site on from time-to-time for statistical and other system administrative purposes. Specific URL ("Universal Resource Locator") and IP ("Internet Protocol") information as well as the time of access may be logged by TWG's designated webmaster. The fact that any visitor has, in fact, accessed this web site is not kept confidential, and the identity of the visitor's IP address accessing the TWG web site is deemed information within the public domain.

We reserve the right to share information as to the identity of the visitor, time of access to this web site, URL and IP with all third parties, including but not limited to: (1). federal, state and local law enforcement agencies if so requested to do so; (2). providers who assist in the creation, hosting or management of this web site; (3). companies working in concert with TWG in its on-going marketing, sales or business development efforts; and (4). our business associates, vendors and present and prospective customers.

Any information, documentation, software or multimedia product which can be downloaded by a visitor is downloaded "as is" without any WARRANTY OF MERCHANTABILITY OR FITNESS FOR A PARTICULAR PURPOSE.

Any references in this web site to products, services, publications and offerings by third parties, including those of clients of TWG, are for information purposes only and do not constitute any express or implied warranty on behalf of TWG as to those products, services, publications and offerings.

TWG shall not be liable for any damages, CONSEQUENTIAL, INCIDENTAL, OR OTHERWISE, for use by any visitor of any text, data, artwork, graphics or other information contained on this web site or contained on linked web sites, or with regards to any products and services of third parties posted on this web page or on linked web pages.