Title VI Rights

Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 prohibits federally assisted programs from discriminating on race, gender, color or national origin.

The Tennessee Department of Finance and Administration and the Tennessee Department of Intellectual Disabilities also require that its services be offered to all eligible persons regardless of race, color, or national origin.

Prohibited Practices Include:

- Denying program services because of race, color, or national origin
- Applying different standards for the same type of services
- Segregating clients because of race, color, or national origin
- Restricting access to program services or benefits
- Impairing human dignity by manner of address or treatment
- Failing to make allowances for Limited English Proficiency

Should you feel you have been discriminated against contact your local Title VI representative listed below:
