Fourth Sunday of Easter

In the Gospel today Jesus compares himself to a shepherd protecting his sheep, promising his disciples that he will hold them securely in his hands. How appropriate that this wonderful image is presented on Mother's Day. Today we honor all types of mothers who have loved us, protected us, and held us, those who have treated us with the tender loving care of the Good Shepherd. Let us give thanks today for all our mothers, living and deceased.

The mission of the early church comes to a pivotal juncture today: Paul and Barnabas begin to preach to the Gentiles. If they are to "be instrument(s) of salvation to the ends of the earth," they must reach out beyond the synagogues. After all, the Good Shepherd, as Jesus is portrayed in today's Gospel, gathers all to himself. Indeed, all of us "are his people, the sheep of his flock."

Mother's Day was first observed soon after the turn of the twentieth century in the Methodist Church as a memorial service for those who had lost their mothers. The observance spread to other churches, and in 1914 became a civic holiday. Since the Middle Ages Roman Catholics had long observed the Fourth Sunday of Lent as "Mothering Sunday," with the liturgy's imagery of a mystical homecoming in "Mother Jerusalem."

Do I try to hear Jesus' voice in the voices of those I encounter? Through whom is Jesus speaking to me?

En el Evangelio de hoy, Jesús se compara a sí mismo con un pastor que protege a sus ovejas, prometiendo a sus discípulos que las mantendrá seguras en sus manos. Qué apropiado que esta maravillosa imagen se presente en el Día de la Madre. Hoy honramos a todos los tipos de madres que nos han amado, nos han protegido y nos han abrazado, a quienes nos han tratado con el cuidado tierno y amoroso del Buen Pastor. Demos gracias hoy por todas nuestras madres, vivas y fallecidas.

La misión de la iglesia primitiva llega a un momento crucial hoy: Pablo y Bernabé comienzan a predicar a los gentiles. Si deben "ser instrumentos de salvación hasta los confines de la tierra", deben llegar más allá de las sinagogas. Después de todo, el Buen Pastor, como se muestra a Jesús en el Evangelio de hoy, se reúne para sí mismo. De hecho, todos nosotros "somos su pueblo, las ovejas de su rebaño".

El Día de la Madre se observó por primera vez poco después del cambio de siglo en la Iglesia Metodista como un servicio conmemorativo para aquellos que habían perdido a sus madres. La observancia se extendió a otras iglesias, y en 1914 se convirtió en una fiesta cívica. Desde la Edad Media, los católicos romanos habían observado durante mucho tiempo el Cuarto Domingo de Cuaresma como el "Domingo de Madre", con las imágenes de la liturgia de un regreso a casa místico en la "Madre Jerusalén".

¿Trato de escuchar la voz de Jesús en las voces de aquellos que encuentro? ¿A través de quién me habla Jesús?
