Missionary Moments

Week of August 28, 2016

Morning: Sharing Bible Stories and Games

[South America] On Sunday mornings, missionaries JACOB and JESSICA JANSEN* gather 60 to 80 children from the village in a mango tree grove to play games associated with a Bible story that will follow. Jacob makes follow-up home visits to tell parents the Bible stories their children are learning. Friday and Saturday evenings are youth and family game nights, including a type of field hockey using sticks. Thanks to your giving through the Cooperative Program, Jacob and Jessica have been able to follow their call to missions and live among an unreached tribe in South America. In this remote location, they are building relationships that lead to eternity with Christ.

Evening: Reaching the Unreached

[Illinois] SCOTT COX is a church planting missionary who leads The Bridge Church in Lebanon, Illinois. The church seeks to reach people who are outside church culture and have little or no exposure to the gospel. The Bridge Church conducts numerous outreaches such as block parties, community service events and evangelistic activities in order to help church members build relationships with those in the community. “Our strategy is to show people Christ through our actions before we share our words,” he says. Pray that Scott, his family and members of The Bridge sense God’s protection and provision in the thick of ministry and provide for them through the Cooperative Program.

Bible Reference & Statement: 2 Thessalonians 3:11-12

A willingness to work and provide for oneself and family is a good testimony for the Lord. It also makes possible giving through our church to help share the gospel.
