Mr. Ricardo Swire, Principal Consultant, is an experienced professional with a unique military service and corporate security background. Mr. Swire's career encompasses seven (07) years as a Barbados Defence Force member. Five (05) years employed to Hilton International Barbados Front Office Department and seven (07) years as Security Coordinator for an internationally recognised Private Sector Group of Companies based in Jamaica.

R-L-H Security Consultants is rooted in knowledgeable professionalism. All assignments are confidential. Innovative methodologies and cutting edge technology utilized to ensure clients' information needs are provided accurately and appropriately. The reporting process is comprehensive with concise written reports provided as required.

The Consultancy is rated by proven methodology, professional service execution and successful results in a competitive regional marketplace. R-L-H Security Consultants' offerings are essential in today's evolving environment. Security breaches are more prevalent, perpetrators more sophisticated. Progressive Businesses and Organizations that recognize the advantage of proactive security awareness and active safeguards choose R-L-H Security Consultants.

As most individuals live in democratic societies mined data can enhance competitive operational intelligence. We communicate, make public statements, post on social media, advertise, meet, speak and interact freely.

Such exchanges make information a security vulnerability. Data is a major asset to all businesses and organizations. Captured correctly the information can be used to generate cost savings and maximise operational efficiencies. Adopting proactive approaches guarantee a competitive advantage. R-L-H Security Consultants' offerings are adaptable to any type of financial, retail, tourism, governmental or corporate sector enterprise.

Fraud Investigations

Fraud is a popular challenge. Crime statistics reveal fraud is subtly widespread. Absence of effective or relevant internal asset protection programs facilitate embezzlement opportunities. Such secret workplace activity contributes to operational cost pressures and financial losses.

Employees involved in theft, fraud or embezzlement are difficult to detect. The need for continuous upgrades of internal control measures and procedures is ongoing. Corporate operations are pressured to contain overhead costs, while attempting to maintain functional integrity and profitability. R-L-H Security Consultants offer safety countermeasures and technical proficiencies that protect against threats.

One damaging effect of theft is every dollar stolen not only affects total profits but additionally clouds direct, accurate calculation of net income.

Trend Analysis of Criminal Activity

Criminal activity transcends national borders. Transnational crime is a consequence of globalization. The array of available modern telecommunications, banking, travel and financial systems provide criminal elements with tools to mask smuggling people, money and goods.

Modern transnational criminal organizations are adaptable, sophisticated, extremely opportunistic, and immersed in a full range of legal and illegal activities. These factors impact businesses in a myriad of ways. R-L-H Security Consultants provide comprehensive analysis of market and criminal indicators, necessary for allowing clients the opportunity to safely take advantage of strategic, operational planning.

Provision of competent, experienced security coordination/management is R-L-H Security Consultants' mandate, by assisting internal resources. Such amalgamation of services helps company/organization's internal staff. The client's employees focus on core responsibilities, maximise application of individual specialist skills and generate greater fiscal year revenue for the business/organization.

Security Project Management and Training

Security Project Management is categorized as a doyen area. The function effectively supports management in routinely conducting business productively and safely. The best security strategy is not reactively addressing vulnerabilities. The advantageous approach is to develop proactive policies and procedures, simultaneously educating the work force.

In a rapidly changing global environment it is imperative for security indicators, constituting a breach of safety, to be detected promptly and actioned. Only progressive training equips in-house security personnel to function as a team, recognize potential security breaches and execute corrective measures before compromises occur.

R-L-H Security Consultants offer applicable and current training. The Consultancy emphasises how a client's employees, cooperating with internal security personnel, can function more efficiently individually and collectively.

Private Security Coordination/Consulting & Management

Executives or senior management, tasked with important decisions, frequently rely on data and opinions presented by a third party. Often, after the fact, resolution makers ascertain important data was skewed.

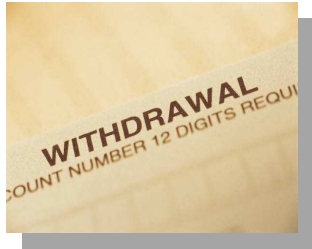

R-L-H Security Consultants information verification methods have proven advantageous. Intelligence gathering is the art of investigation coupled with research. Data obtained under this caption is invaluable to any business/organization considering appointment of individuals to positions of trust and responsibility, or investment of significant finances.

Counter Corporate Espionage

Some International Banking Centres (IBCs) are renowned tax havens. These financial entities are shielded by strict bank secrecy rules, confidentiality laws and tax reporting regulations. Such insulation inhibits both domestic and foreign law enforcement agencies tasked with investigating financial crimes.

Several IBCs are located on Caribbean and South Pacific Islands. Such corporate entities are usually preferred targets of transnational money laundering organizations. International borders do not impede illegal operations. Criminal groups are not only a threat to nations where they are based, but disturb regional peace and stability.

At the local/community level such organizations pose security threats that embody diverse social problems and aggressively violent crimes. Rapid increases in law enforcement, medical and related social costs are the ultimate result. Employed R-L-H Security Consultants' methods can effectively address modern security and safety challenges.
