The Trojan Horse

In this issue we will be discussing a subject which, from the current "political correctness" standpoint, is totally unacceptable. That, of course, is the problem within our society. Whenever any society or culture faces a problem of the magnitude we have acquired today but is not allowed to discuss it intelligently, that culture is doomed. Such is the problem within the White culture in America today.

As we watch news releases on the TV and read the newspapers about the struggle the White people had in Rhodesia and South Africa, so many people think, "Not in America!" The general public shrugged it off because of the immense propaganda machine emanating from our government and the media. The majority of Whites in this country were convinced that the White people of Rhodesia and South Africa were guilty of "crimes against humanity." How terrible and dangerous it is to have a little knowledge or no knowledge at all of a subject as serious as that in Rhodesia and South Africa.

The Book of Hosea \(8:7\) tells us, "For they have sown the wind, and they shall reap the whirlwind: it hath no stalk: the bud shall yield no meal: if so be it yield, the strangers shall swallow it up." And in Galatians 6:7 we read this, "Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap."

We have failed God. We have failed our brothers and sisters in those two once highly cultured nations. Now, we are going to reap what we have sown. The only way that anyone could not believe that now is simply because they are oblivious to what is happening in this once, beautiful, highly cultured nation.

We are at war but it is not a war between nations and their armies. It is not altogether a violent war but there are some killings and homes are being looted. It is a philosophy of it not being wrong to do wrong, only wrong to get caught.

If a poll were taken in this country asking, "Why are you not speaking out?", this would be the results of that poll. "I have a living to make for my family; You can't buck city hall, you know; It would endanger us with repercussions; what can one man do?"

When the Political Zionists (including so-called Christians) instigated civil war and revolution in Rhodesia and South Africa, we had many men who went to Africa and volunteered for service to fight the onslaught against their society and culture.

Read what a bright, handsome, young Christian man, a college graduate, from Ohio wrote in his journal while a volunteer in the Rhodesian conflict. He was killed July 19, 1975 while in combat fighting against Communism and for his Christian beliefs:

"...It is said, the crisis of the Western World is the degree that it has separated itself from God, and shares the faith of the communists. The crisis of the Communist world is the degree it has failed to separate its people from God. The stronger faith will win.

"What must a Christian do? Prayer meetings, Bible studies, church services, singing choruses, and witnessing are vital to develop faith. But Christians must grasp current issues and not withdraw from world affairs, nor fail to resist or even protest what they know to be wrong, for fear of getting political. Although a period of tribulation is foreseen, many do nothing to stop it and expect to be spared by a 'Rapture' of saints.

"The opposition to the leftward swing of governments, seminaries, and universities is insufficient and ineffective, or else the faith in man would not have become the dominating belief of the Leftists who have become clergy, professors and politicians. Very few world leaders publicly proclaim Christian faith. Many theologians deny the divinity of Christ and even proclaim God is dead. Christianity is ridiculed at the universities, where the best minds are turned off God.

"Prayer alone, without action, may be insufficient, for God works through His created beings. The Hungarians did not actively resist the Soviet takeover, and were shot in the head while praying for deliverance.

"...Western civilization is based on Christianity. The decline of the West correlates to its demise, and the West can be revived by a revival of faith. Is it worth saving in Southern Africa? Although it has many faults, Western civilization has exhibited by its history the ability to produce culture in its great art, music, poetry, literature, sculpture and architecture: expressions of soul in contact with God. Systems of law and government have been devised permitting a reasonable amount of liberty. Existence has been made more than a struggle for survival. The black African has his culture too, but white rule has not repressed it. He is free to choose his life-style whether in the bush or metropolis, and judging from the multitudes that swarm to the cities, many prefer at least some aspects of Western life. Does Communism offer a better alternative?

"This century started off being the most promising of all history; yet in less than fifty years the world has been brought to the brink of a new dark age of terror and barbarism. God will be merciful if we repent....

"Are you willing to back up your faith by action? Is your faith in God and civilization stronger than the communist faith? Is it worth living and fighting for? I think it is."

That came from the book A Martyr Speaks. Journal of the Late John Alan Coey. It can be obtained from G.E. Coey, 6555 U.S. 68 So. West Liberty, OH 43357. $18.

The Book of Acts tells us about acting on your faith: "...Did not we straitly command you that ye should not teach in this name? and, behold, ye have filled Jerusalem with your doctrine, and intend to bring this man's blood upon us. Then Peter and the other apostles answered and said, We ought to obey God rather than men. The God of our fathers raised up Jesus, whom ye slew and hanged on a tree. Him hath God exalted with his right hand to be a Prince and a Saviour, for to give repentance to Israel, and forgiveness of sins. And we are his witnesses of these things; and so is also the Holy Ghost, whom God hath given to them that obey him" (Acts 5:28-32).

Make no mistake about it, there is a race war being perpetrated against the Celto-Saxon culture and civilization throughout the entire world. It does not take a genius or "rocket scientist" to realize this fact. Read any newspaper, watch any television program, attend any movie, visit any public school, attend any Judeo-Christian Church and that fact becomes obvious.

One of the great scientists of the 20th century was Dr. Lothrop Stoddard who wrote the book The Rising Tide of Color, 1920, Charles Scribner's Sons, New York. Reading a portion of the preface of that book gives us a modicum of the depth of this problem.

"More than a decade ago I became convinced that the key-note of twentieth-century world-politics would be the relations between the primary races of mankind. Momentous modifications of existing race-relations were evidently impending, and nothing could be more vital to the course of human evolution than the character of these modifications, since upon the quality of human life all else depends.

"Accordingly, my attention was thenceforth largely directed to racial matters. The world-wide struggle between the primary races of mankind--the 'conflict of color,' as it has been happily termed--bids fair to be the fundamental problem of the twentieth century, and great communities like the United States of America, the South African Confederation, and Australasia regard the 'color question' as perhaps the gravest problem of the future.

"...To me the Great War (World War I-ed.) was from the first the White Civil War, which, whatever its outcome, must gravely complicate the course of racial relations.

"...The most disquieting feature of the present situation, however, is not the war but the peace. The white world's inability to frame a constructive settlement, the perpetuation of intestine hatreds, and the menace of fresh white civil wars complicated by the spectre of social revolution, evoke the dread thought that the late war may be merely the first state in a cycle of ruin. In fact, so absorbed is the white world with its domestic dissensions that it pays scant heed to racial problems whose importance for the future of mankind far transcends the questions which engross its attention to-day."

In the September-October, 1999 issue of the Intelligence Newsletter, we discussed Tom Brokaw's The Greatest Generation. We showed how World War I guaranteed World War II. We showed how this was intentionally manipulated for a much greater cause. It is taught that the generation living during the depression and World War II made the world safe for democracy. We showed instead that it was the generation which made the world safe for Communism and world political Zionism. Communism is only a tool to be used to bring world political Zionism into being. It has been a long, long time in the making.

It is all in the question of the word "blood." The conspiracy is very cleverly revealed in Acts 17:26 which reads, "And hath made of one blood all nations of men for to dwell on all the face of the earth, and hath determined the times before appointed, and the bounds of their habitation." The word "blood" was added and was not in the original. There are several translations of the Bible which do not show the word "blood" in the verse. The Ferrar Fenton translation shows the verse reading as follows, "because He made by One every race of men to dwell upon the whole face of the earth, having provided proper methods and guides for their research in seeking God." Note that the word One is capitalized meaning God made every race of men. How did this change in the wording of the Bible happen?

We very recently presented a message titled "The Tares Among Us" and it will be made available shortly. It is the story of the Masorets who were a sect of Talmudic Jews who returned from the Babylonian captivity. Their purpose was to recreate the Hebrew language which had been lost when Alexander conquered the Mideast. Ancient Hebrew, which was of a script style writing existed for about 1000 years from the time of David to the time of Alexander. That lost ancient Hebrew contained considerable Greek influence.

The Masorets created the new, block form of Hebrew and intentionally inserted their concept of where vowels were placed in the various words. Ancient Hebrew had only 22 consonants with no vowels. Vowels were understood depending on the context of the sentence in which the word was used. One can very readily realize that the verses did not mean the same thing after they finished with such a program.

The Masorets existed even into the New Testament era. In fact, some say that they did not exist at all until the 5th century A.D. when they presented their Masoretic Text. However, Adam Clarke, the well known Anglican Theologian, in 1810 wrote that the Masorets originated in the 5th century B.C. Adam Clarke revealed that these "Tares Among Us" modified the New Testament for their own best interests! In all probability it was they who added the word "blood" to Acts 17:26. Why is this so important? Let us return to Lothrop Stoddard and see. Again, from his book The Rising Tide of Color. From the chapter entitled "The Crisis of the Ages" we read this:

"To many minds the mere possibility of such a catastrophe may seem unthinkable. Yet a dispassionate survey of the past shows that it is not only possible but probable if present conditions go on unchanged. The whole history of life, both human and subhuman, teaches us that nature (The Natural Laws of God) will not condone disobedience; that, as I have already phrased it, 'no living being stands above her (His) law, and protozoon or demigod, if they transgress, alike must die.'

"Now we have transgressed; grievously transgressed--and we are suffering grievous penalties. But pain is really kind. Pain is the importunate tocsin which rouses to dangerous realities and spurs to the seeking of a cure.

"As a matter of fact we are confusedly aware of our evil plight, and legion are the remedies today proposed. Some of these are mere quack nostrums. Others contain valuable remedial properties. To be sure, there is probably no one curative agent, since our troubles are complex and magic elixirs heal only in the realm of dreams. But one element should be fundamental to all the compoundings of the social pharmacopoeia. That element is blood.

"It is clean, virile, genius-bearing blood, streaming down the ages through the unerring action of heredity, which, in anything like a favorable environment, will multiply itself, solve our problems, and sweep us on to higher and nobler destinies. What we today need above all else is a changed attitude of mind--a recognition of the supreme importance of heredity, not merely in scientific treatises but in the practical ordering of the world's affairs. We are where we are today primarily because we have neglected this vital principle; because we have concerned ourselves with dead things instead of living beings.

"This disregard of heredity is perhaps not strange. It is barely a generation since its fundamental importance was scientifically established, and the world's conversion to even the most vital truth takes time. In fact, we also have much to unlearn. A little while ago we were taught that all men were equal and that good conditions could, of themselves, quickly perfect mankind. The seductive charm of these dangerous fallacies lingers and makes us loath to put them resolutely aside.

"Fortunately, we now know the truth. At last we have been vouchsafed clear insight into the laws of life. We now know that men are not, and never will be, equal. We know that environment and education can develop only what heredity brings. We know that the acquirements of individuals are either not inherited at all or are inherited in so slight a degree as to make no perceptible difference from generation to generation. In other words: we now know that heredity is paramount in human evolution, all other things being secondary factors."

Dr. Lothrop Stoddard was truly an exceptional individual with great powers of observation, understanding and prophesy. He also was a fair and kind man. He understood that our society, thinking with emotion, would try to "make things right" with "magic elixirs." Today, we have organization after organization demanding that Congress change this policy or make that law, simply to reduce, not remove, the obvious problem. These are the "magic elixirs" to which Dr. Stoddard referred.

There are many culprits where we could point fingers. We can easily say that it is the fault of Congress. If that were the case, we would need only to remove the guilty congressmen and replace them. Obviously, that doesn't work because it has been tried. But there is one place we can point the finger besides that of pointing it at ourselves! That is the Judeo-Christian Church. Hear this argument to its conclusion before passing judgment!

The Judeo-Christian churches have been deeply penetrated with communist values. It was the Methodist theologian Dr. Fred Ward who formed the Federal Council of Churches which became the National Council of Churches which became a part of the World Council of Churches. The agenda of each of them reads like the planks of the Communist Manifesto.

Our seminaries have instructors who have directly, or indirectly, been taught by Rabbinical Talmudic Pharisees, the very ones who created Communism in the first place. We have church teachers who use the lessons learned in the Humanist Manifesto I and II.

Our people love to have it so because they attend churches which have emotionally driven preachers who refuse to discuss matters of the Bible regarding government. Such churches are the strongest proponents of separation of church and state. They should know that it is not possible to separate church and state because the Bible combines the two from Genesis to Revelations. They tell the congregation how much God loves them but they never mention that the way God showed His love for us was to give us His Laws, Statutes and Judgments. Jesus said, "If you love me keep my commandments." (John 14:15). The love of God and the love for God is relative to law, statutes and judgments and that is government.

In 1 Kings 18:21 we find the problem in our churches. "And Elijah came unto all the people, and said, How long halt ye between two opinions? If the Lord be God, follow him: but if Baal, then follow him. And the people answered him not a word." The Judeo-Christian churches of today are being asked that question, "And the people answered him not a word."

The god Baal of that verse was the god of the Babylonians, the very same place where Talmudism took shape six hundred years before Christ. Talmudism was a form of communism then just as it still is today.

If our churches had the fire coming from the pulpits that we had when this country was young, this Trojan Horse war being perpetrated before our eyes could not exist. In those days the American churches led the way and demanded that Congress vote accordingly. There is no way possible for this nation to be destroyed from within if our churches became active and followed Biblical principles.

Our Congress has only two choices for any vote presented. It is either Yea or Nay. They vote according to their god. If God is their God, then they vote according to Him. If man is their god, then they vote according to man's concepts. If they are under Talmudic control, then they vote according to Baal. If Congress were forced to respond to the demands of the churches, they would vote according to Godly principles or they would be removed. With that introduction, we can now show examples of this Trojan Horse war which we are badly losing.

Some of what follows is political party oriented and we here at Christian Crusade for Truth disapprove of both political parties as they have now developed. However, government in the Biblical sense must be observed wherever we see it. There are Biblical principles involved in the following and it is given in that light.

From the Nationalist Times dated April, 2000, we find this well researched article entitled "Mexican Revolutionaries Target the Southwest U.S. for New Nation."

"As the economic 'good times' continue to roll, radical hispanics are formulating plans for the day when the Southwest will become an independent hispanic nation. According to an article in The Albuquerque Tribune, Dr. Charles Truxillo of the University of New Mexico has become the second prominent professor to endorse a new hispanic nation comprised of California, Arizona, New Mexico, Texas and southern Colorado. Its capital would be Los Angeles.

"Previously Dr. Jose Angel Guttierrez of the University of Texas has endorsed the new country. Truxillo suggests it be called 'Republica del Norte,' and adds, ominously, that it should be brought into being 'by any means necessary.' But he believes that the new nation can be created through the electoral process, as endless millions of Mexicans continue to pour into the Southwest, where they are promptly radicalized by white liberals and militant hispanic organizations like La Raza, MALDEF and others.

"Many radicals prefer to call the gestating country Aztlan. Hispanic revolutionaries are distributing leaflets in California and elsewhere warning whites to 'get out' before it's too late. Patriotic Californians who have publicly protested against Washington's immigration policies have been physically beaten by hispanic terrorists.

"By any historical standard, the takeover of the Southwest has been a remarkably swift occurrence. The Immigration Act of 1965 for all intents and purposes ended European immigration into the United States and replaced it with non-white immigration. (Hear our tape The Immigration Scam -ed.). Additionally, Washington has deliberately provided only the most cursory security at the U.S.-Mexico border, thus allowing an unending stream of millions of Mexicans and other hispanic illegal aliens to flow into America.

"Although the vast majority of Americans are opposed to the Third World hordes entering the country and changing its complexion before their very eyes, neither of the identical globalist parties intends to make any substantive changes in current immigration policies. In fact, the Republican Party is in the process of eagerly dumping its white, middle class base in favor of hispanics. As nationalist writer Samuel Francis states in the April issue of Chronicles magazine:

"What the Stupid Party has begun to discover is the simple political principle, known to demagogues since the last days of the Roman Republic, that if you feed the voters what they want, they'll probably give you their votes. Having learned that principle by giving up immigration control in order to win the support of a radical left wing ethnic bloc, the party is now applying it not only to the political positions it takes but also the actual candidates it fields.

"Rep. Bob Dornan's famous line--shortly before he lost to a candidate who emphasized her hispanic name and background--that 'I want to see America stay a nation of immigrants, and if we lose our Northern European stock--your coloring and mine, blue eyes and fair hair--tough!' has been taken almost literally by the top strategist for the California GOP, state Sen. Jim Brulte. Last year, Mr. Brulte exulted that 'My leadership PAC will give no more money to Anglo males in Republican primaries. Every dollar I can raise is going to nominate latinos and Asian Americans and women. We have to expand our outreach.'

"More recently, The Washington Times quoted Lance Tarrance, a pollster for the GOP, as saying, 'We have now moved from the Southern strategy we pursued for the last three decades, since Richard Nixon, to a hispanic strategy for the next three decades.' It does not occur to stupidos like Mr. Brulte and Mr. Tarrance that they are also abandoning the very ethnic, regional, and social core of their own party, as well as the beliefs that distinguished it from the parties of the hard left.'

"Once solid Reagan country, California is now, with its huge proportion of hispanics, probably the most left wing state in the U.S. In response the Republicans have resorted to trying to outpander the Democrats in trying to garner non-white votes. The above-mentioned Brulte did indeed recruit only non-whites and feminists to run as Republicans in each of the nine races the party targeted as most important this year. California Republicans rewarded Brulte for his fanatical anti-white stand by promoting him to treasurer of the California GOP.

"On the national level, the picture is not much prettier. Neither Al Gore (sic) nor George W. Bush will do anything to discourage hispanic secession if elected president; both may in fact encourage it, especially Bush. As Francis writes of the Texas governor in the same article quoted above:

"Bush makes much of campaigning in Spanish and using Spanish-language ads, as well as boasting of his earlier record of opposing immigration restrictions, supporting bilingual educations, and staging photo ops with Mexican President Ernesto Zedillo and Mexican governors across the Texas border. The Texas governor has also opposed using U.S. troops to protect the border from illegal immigration and has refused to take action against the Texas border town of El Cenizo, which last year enacted an ordinance forbidding cooperation with state and federal immigration authorities. The town's law is an open violation of federal law and an open declaration that it will not enforce border security against illegal entries. To date, Governor Bush has done and said nothing either to bring this town into line with Texas and federal law or to indicate what action, as president, he would take against it.

"As for immigration itself, earlier this year the governor announced that he not only opposes efforts to curb it but believes 'we ought to increase legal immigration for our country's advantage. The high-tech world we are now dominating is dependent on educated folks, but we're short...of workers.' Repeating his opposition to using troops on the border, he told editors of the Cedar Rapids Gazette in January, 'Forget it. Mexico's our neighbor and friend.'

"Mr. Bush's remarks, like those of most adherents of the 'universal nation' ideology, ignore the fact that most Mexican immigrants are not highly 'educated folks' and that Mexico, so far from being our 'friend,' is an empire of gangsters, drug-pushers, and murderers who encourage emigration to rid their country of deadbeats, criminals, and troublemakers they would otherwise have to lock up or kill. The governor told the newspaper 'we ought to get rid of illegal immigration, illegal drugs, illegal contraband,' but he said absolutely nothing about how 'we' can do so or what he would do as president to accomplish those goals." End of the article in The Nationalist Times.

There are parallel situations that further prove the point that the Mexican revolt for Aztlan is coming ever closer.

We have all heard and seen the automobiles going up and down city streets with their automobile cassette players screaming into the air. Heads are bobbing up and down with the beat as you watch them pass. Here is the "rap song" their heads are bobbing to:

"The only immigrant is the Atlantic Ocean wetbacks. Step back...By the year 2000, Jack, we're gonna see who's the real wetback. In two-triple-0, we take it back. Brewed in Aztlan by homeboys who know how to make a dead gringo." (The word "gringo" means Anglo. The song is from the rap group called Aztlan Nation.)

Here are threatening statements made by the Mexican President Zedillo: "We will not tolerate foreign forces dictating and enacting laws on Mexicans in the U.S...I have proudly affirmed that the Mexican nation extends beyond the territory enclosed by its borders and that Mexican migrants are an important, a very important part of it."

By those statements the Mexican President Zedillo openly declared an invasion when he said that Mexican migrants are extending the borders of Mexico by their migration into the United States. There is hardly an area of the United States, including Alaska, where this "migration" has not extended. So those living in other parts of the country are far from free of this threat to our culture and sovereignty.

There is a comparison of this current situation to the story of the Trojan Horse in Homer's Iliad. The ancient city of Troy was located on the coast of the Aegean Sea very close to the Hellespont and guarded the sea lanes into the Black Sea. It was then a city in the empire of Troy. It was very strategically located for world domination, just as the United States is today.

In Homer's Iliad, there was a war between the Grecian city of Sparta and Troy.. The walls of Troy were impossible to penetrate. So the Spartans built a huge wooden horse and filled it with Greek soldiers. The wooden horse was left outside the gate one night while Troy slept. The Trojans simply opened the gate and pulled the horse inside without investigating the situation. When nighttime came again the Greek soldiers quietly opened the gates and the entire Greek army rushed in and sacked the city.

In our present situation, the Wooden Horse is the demise of the immigration laws in 1965. The gates of the United States are left open to anyone to come into this country with no questions asked. It could be for hardships, political asylum, or cheap labor for employers. Anyone and everyone is welcome.

From the year 1965 to the year 2000 is 35 years. That doesn't seem very long. But it was long enough to send their children to schools, to churches, join political parties, and to encourage them to register for the political voting.

But the most important of all was to encourage them to join race oriented organizations such as League of United Latin American Citizens \(LULAC\), Mexican American Legal Defense Fund \(MALDEF\), Mexican American Political Association \(MAPA\), Mexican American Community Foundation (MACF), Hispanic Chambers of Commerce, Hispanic Lawyers Guild, and many, many more.

Have they declared a Trojan Horse war? Here is the Aztlan Declaration of Independence as written in the book Do It Up Brown by Patty Newman: "In the spirit of a new people that is conscious not only of its proud historical heritage, but also of the brutal 'gringo' invasion of our territories, we, the Chicano inhabitants and civilizers of the northern land of Aztlan..declare..we are free and sovereign to determine those tasks which are justly called for by our house, our land, the sweat of our brows...Aztlan belongs to those that plant the seeds, water the fields, and gather the crops, and not to the foreign Europeans. We do not recognize capricious frontiers on the bronze continent. Brotherhood unites us, and love for our brothers makes us a people whose time has come and who struggle against the foreigner 'gabacho' who exploits our riches and destroys our culture. With heart in our hands and our hands in the soil, we declare the independence of our mestizo nation. We are a bronze people with a bronze culture. Before the world, before all of North America, before all our brothers in the bronze continent, we are a nation, we are a union of free pueblos, we are Aztlan."

Professors at UCLA, in unison with their students state this: "The prime objective of El Plan de Aztlan is the liberation of the Chicano or Mexican American people from social bondage: El Plan de Aztlan is The Plan of Liberation...El Plan de Aztlan specifies that La Raza will be autonomously free, culturally, socially, economically, and politically; it will make its own decisions on the usage of our lands, the taxation of our goods, the utilization of our bodies for war, the determination of justice (reward and punishment), and the profit of our sweat."

The "Trojan Horse" is within the gates. While Americans slept, the horse was opened and they did the exact same thing as did the Russian and East European Jews starting in the 1890"s. They sent their children to school to learn of our ways, our culture, our strong points and our weak points. But above all, they taught them to be political leaders.

We have spoken about and written articles on a non-violent form of warfare that has been used very successfully in many countries for a long time. It is called "Leaderless Resistance." It is now being perpetrated upon the American people wherever the spirit of Aztlan exists. It is a form of warfare where only one person at a time is needed. But for it to work, it takes unity, dedication, networking, and "national" purpose. The organizational aspects and the networking are provided within the groups listed earlier. In addition to those groups, networking is accomplished at group picnics, group dances, Mariachi concerts and anywhere else groups can be gathered. That includes churches!

The conflict is almost childish in nature. Enter into a restaurant owned and operated by Anglo Americans and use the restroom. You will very often find it trashed with graffiti on the walls, paper towels thrown on the floor, toilets left unflushed, parts of fixtures stolen, etc. Then enter into a restaurant owned by their own people. You will most often find the restroom fastidiously clean. At first impression one can think that Americans are sure getting lazy. But continue to be observant; look and listen. You will find much more in this than laziness. Also, you will find a hispanic waiter or waitress service wanting. You wait an unusual length of time for service. When you finally get an order placed, the food is left in the kitchen until it is cold. You get no refills on your coffee or tea. Observe tables where their own people are seated. You will find the best of service for them!.

Then, go to a store to purchase an item you need. One of their people is behind the counter. You will find most often that your satisfaction in the transaction is extremely poor, even if you can get anyone to observe your presence!

Is this childish? It most certainly is but nevertheless, it is a most effective manner in fighting a war. It doesn't require money, equipment or special training. There is no violence in this method of warfare. Again, it only takes dedication and purpose. More on that later.

The requirements for voter registration have been changed to accommodate this situation. The requirements for citizenship have been changed by removing language, history and time requirements. It should be obvious in the most simple reasoning that all political positions within the society rapidly become filled with their own people. Decisions and actions are accomplished in keeping with Aztlan's Declaration of Independence. Television and radio station news releases and other programming are directed to the Aztlan movement.

There are many White families selling out and moving to other parts of the country. That is not a viable solution. Thanks to the official policies on immigration, affirmative action, race quotas, etc., their notoriety follows them! Moving from one place to another to escape witnessing the destruction of our culture is useless. It's like jumping from the frying pan into the fire! This is a worldwide phenomenon. Look at England, France, Germany, Norway, Sweden, Austria, Russia, it is all the same. South Africa, Rhodesia, Australia and New Zealand are all the same. The only difference is that the United States is somewhat behind these other countries but we are rapidly catching up with them! No, the answer is not to move. Stay right where we are! There is a solution to this!

When President Clinton boasted that White Europeans would be the minority in the United States by the year 2050, he was completely aware of what we are discussing. How does he know? Because he was trained to know.

The following comes from the book entitled Chicano Manifesto by Armando Rendon. Some years ago, the FBI was informed of an attempt to inflame a revolution in the Southwest by Hispanics. In the investigation of this threat, they discovered a document called the "MACHO Manifesto."

So investigators started looking for the leaders. They asked men in cafes and bars if they were a MACHO. The answer always came back, "Yes, of course!" Soon, they discovered there were thousands upon thousands of MACHOs! Further investigation found that all of these men were referring to what Hispanics call machismo. Armando Rendon writes this about machismo: "The essence of machismo, of being macho, is as much a symbolic principle of the Chicano revolt as it is a guideline for the conduct of family life, male-female relationships, and personal self-esteem. To be macho, in fact, is an underlying drive of the gathering identification of Mexican-Americans which goes beyond a recognition of common troubles. The Chicano revolt is a manifestation of Mexican Americans exerting their manhood and womanhood against the Anglo society. Macho, in other words, can no longer relate merely to manhood but must relate to nationhood as well."

With that explanation, Mr. Rendon, very accurately reveals the Hispanics' strength and the White society's current weakness. Not too many years ago, the White society had the very same mind set. We had what many call the "National Soul." We have lost it and we must redirect our lives on a national scale to get it back.

Probably the most revealing symptom of our losing our "National Soul" is the dramatic increase in the rampant malady called depression. Our people are going to their doctors in massive numbers. Of course, the doctors simply put a band-aid on the problem by giving anti-depressant drugs such as Prozac and Ritlan. That only makes matters worse.

Go into any city where there are a large number of Hispanics. You will find them in the gyms working out and building their bodies. Years ago, the Hispanic was depicted as that little compasino, leaning on a cactus wearing a sombrero and with his burro by his side. That is now a gross misrepresentation! These people have an upward mobility. They are in trim, fighting shape--lean and mean--as they say. The White society is rapidly becoming couch potatoes and the national physical fitness proves it.

What must we do? First and foremost, we must get our spiritual house in order. That sounds over simplistic and we hear it many times but it is just that simple. How do we get our spiritual house in order? We must learn about and separate out the two systems of law in our society. Those are the Laws, Statutes and Judgments of God versus the law of man. One is Godly and the other Talmudic. One leads to freedom, liberty and Godliness. The other leads to perdition and that is where we are today.

The essence and the bulwark of Christianity is found in the command which Jesus gave to Peter. When we understand this one point, we realize that on the Apostle Peter rests the success, or failure, of Christian government.

In Matthew 16:18-19 we find the key. "And I say also unto thee, That thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church; and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it. And I will give unto thee the keys of the kingdom of heaven: and whatsoever thou shalt bind on earth shall be bound in heaven: and whatsoever thou shalt loose on earth shall be loosed in heaven." The word "Peter" in verse 18 in the Greek is Petro, meaning a huge, unyielding boulder, larger than a rock. The word "rock" is Petra which means the solid bedrock rather than a single boulder. These were specifically chosen words. The bedrock represents the Body of Christ. The one to be used to form that Body of Christ was Peter. The specific verse which creates the Body of Christ is found in Acts 2:38, "Then Peter said unto them, Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost."

Acts 5:28 tells us of the separation of the two systems of law. "...Did not we straitly command you that ye should not teach in this name? and, behold, ye have filled Jerusalem with your doctrine, and intend to bring this man's blood upon us. Then Peter and the other apostles answered and said, We ought to obey God rather than men."

It is just that simple. Do what Peter said to do in Acts 2:38, "...Repent, and be baptized (by immersion)... for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost."

By becoming the Body of Christ through the act of baptism we will receive the gift of the Holy Ghost, or God given Spirit. Combine that with Peter's admonition in Acts 5:29. We separate out the two systems of law, Godly Law or man's Talmudic law.

Our people are desperately concerned about the losing of our "National Soul." Already many are on their way to regain it. One of the ways it is being done is by removing the influence of the public schools which follows the Talmudic Human Manifesto system. Families are home schooling their children. The results are already obvious. Home schooled children grade 20-30 percent higher on the national SAT tests. This year, the top honors in the National Spelling Bee and the national contest for geography, went to home schooled children. "But they lose out on the social amenities," they cry! That should be an accolade rather than a condemnation!

That gift of the Holy Ghost is the force which builds the "National Soul." There are several other things which build that "National Soul." Jesus told us in Matthew 22:37-39, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind. This is the first and great commandment And the second is like unto it, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself." Another builder of the "National Soul" is found in John 15:13, "Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends."

Each of these other nationalities (races) who are now asserting themselves are, in their own way, doing those very things. God is no respecter of persons. As they say in the Navy, "Now hear this!" If it works for them, it will work for us!

We will end this issue by repeating what John Coey said, "What must a Christian do? Prayer meeting, Bible studies, church services, singing choruses, and witnessing are vital to develop faith. But Christians must grasp current issues and not withdraw from world affairs, nor fail to resist or even protest what they know to be wrong, for fear of getting political. Although a period of tribulation is foreseen, many do nothing to stop it and expect to be spared by a 'Rapture' of saints."
