

New Aurora church enrolls first new members

Flowing Forth United Methodist Church in Aurora, formed in October, welcomed its first new members Sunday.

During worship services, Pastor Derek Rogers introduced new members to the congregation. Welcomed were Breann Rogers, North Aurora; Mark Lindsay, Aurora; and Ruth and Jeff Butler, North Aurora. The Butlers' sons, Cole, Graham and Quinn, accompanied their parents.

New members completed a class led by Rev. Rogers to qualify for membership.

Flowing Forth UMC was formed in October after a merger of the former historic Fourth Street UMC and Flowing Grace UMC, both in Aurora.

Worship services are held at 10 a.m. Sundays at Aurora Christian School. The public is invited. Call (630) 239-2321 for more information.

PHOTO: North Aurora resident Ruth Butler, right, accepts an invitation from Rev. Derek Rogers' (left) Sunday to join Aurora's Flowing Forth United Methodist Church. From left front row are Rev. Rogers, Flowing Forth UMC pastor; and new members Breann Rogers, North Aurora; Mark Lindsay, Aurora; Jeff Butler, North Aurora; and Ruth Butler. Back row from left are Cole Butler, Graham Butler and Quinn Butler, all North Aurora residents. The new members are the first to join Flowing Forth UMC since it was formed in October after a merger of Fourth Street UMC and Flowing Grace UMC, formerly in Aurora. The new church meets at Aurora Christian School, 2255 Sullivan Rd. in Aurora. (Al Benson photo)