

Welcome

Thank you for choosing Child Parent Counseling, LLC, to provide counseling services for you, your child and/or family. We fully appreciate the difficult decision you have made to come to counseling. It is our goal to help you find long-lasting solutions to the difficulties that brought you here. The first session is an opportunity to explore a new relationship with a therapist and to ensure that both therapist and client are comfortable working with each other.

Our initial few sessions will focus on getting to know each other, gathering information about what brought you to counseling and developing an initial treatment plan. Once a treatment plan is established, you and your therapist will work together to decide the frequency and duration of counseling sessions. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to ask your therapist.
