Oswegoland Heritage Association, park district partner to offer historical walking tour of Oswego

Join Oswego history enthusiasts Ted Clauser and Linda Dean at 2 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 11, at the historic Little White School Museum to take a step back in the village's rich history during an Oswego History Walk.

The leisurely roughly one-hour walking tour of some of the village's most historic sites and buildings will be sponsored by the Oswegoland Heritage Association and the Oswegoland Park District.

Clauser and Dean will guide participants through the some of Oswego's most historic areas, including the village's downtown and adjacent areas. The community's heritage will come alive as visitors pass by homes, businesses, buildings and other sites that have contributed to Oswego's long history.

Registration fee is $5, and space is limited. Pre-registration is required by calling 630-554-2999, 630-554-1010, or visiting the web pages of the Little White School Museum, www.littlewhiteschoolmuseum.org, or the Oswegoland Park District, www.oswegolandparkdistrict.org.

Participants in the walking tour, aimed at those age 16 and over who should be able to comfortably walk for approximately one hour. The event will begin and end at the Little White School Museum, 72 Polk Street, Oswego. Face coverings and social distancing measures will be practiced for this walk, which will be held outdoors through some of Oswego's most historic neighborhoods.

For more information, call 630-554-2999 or visit www.littlewhiteschoolmuseum.org.

PHOTO: On Sunday, Oct. 11, the Little White School Museum will host a one-hour historic walking tour of Oswego's most historic sites, including the Bartlett House on Main Street between Van Buren and Tyler streets. This photo of the house, arguably the oldest in Oswego, was taken about 1900. Registration is required for the tour; cost is $5. For more information or to register for this program aimed at participants age 16 and older, call 630-554-2999 or visit the museum web page at www.littlewhiteschoolmuseum.org. The museum is a joint project of the Oswegoland Heritage Association and the Oswegoland Park District.
