ARCHERY EQUIPMENT

Joe (Kastaway) Kulis (see P. 23 for details on the rhino hunt on the cover) dropped this 900 lb. moose on October 14, 1972 in British Columbia—with one lung shot using an Indian #270 Stalker and our #74 arrow with Bleeder point.

George Gardner, another member of Indian's hunting advisory staff, bagged this mountain lion with a #274 Deerslayer and #74 arrow equipped with Bleeder point.

STALKER™

Catalog No. 270

Stalker: Indian Archery's top hunting bow for the growing legion of hunters preferring a short bow and demanding the finest equipment available.

The most powerful yet stack-free hunting bow at any price. Average arrow flight of 165 feet per second. Note too, Stalker's weight is concentrated in the handle to absorb shock and dampen vibration. Add Stalker's distinctive palm grip and sculptured thumb rest and you know you have the finest hunting bow available.

SPECIFICATIONS

THE OLYMPIAN

Born out of America's victories in the 1972 Olympics. Where, in archery's first time in the Olympics since 1916, the United States team won all the gold medals in both men's and women's divisions.

Indian brings to you a bow dedicated to the victories of the American archery team in the 1972 Olympics. A bow with all the glamour and color of the Olympics and with all the quality and shooting power of an Olympic champion.

Bearing the Red, White, and Blue colors of America's gold winning Olympic team, the Olympian puts you in the gold with these exclusive features:

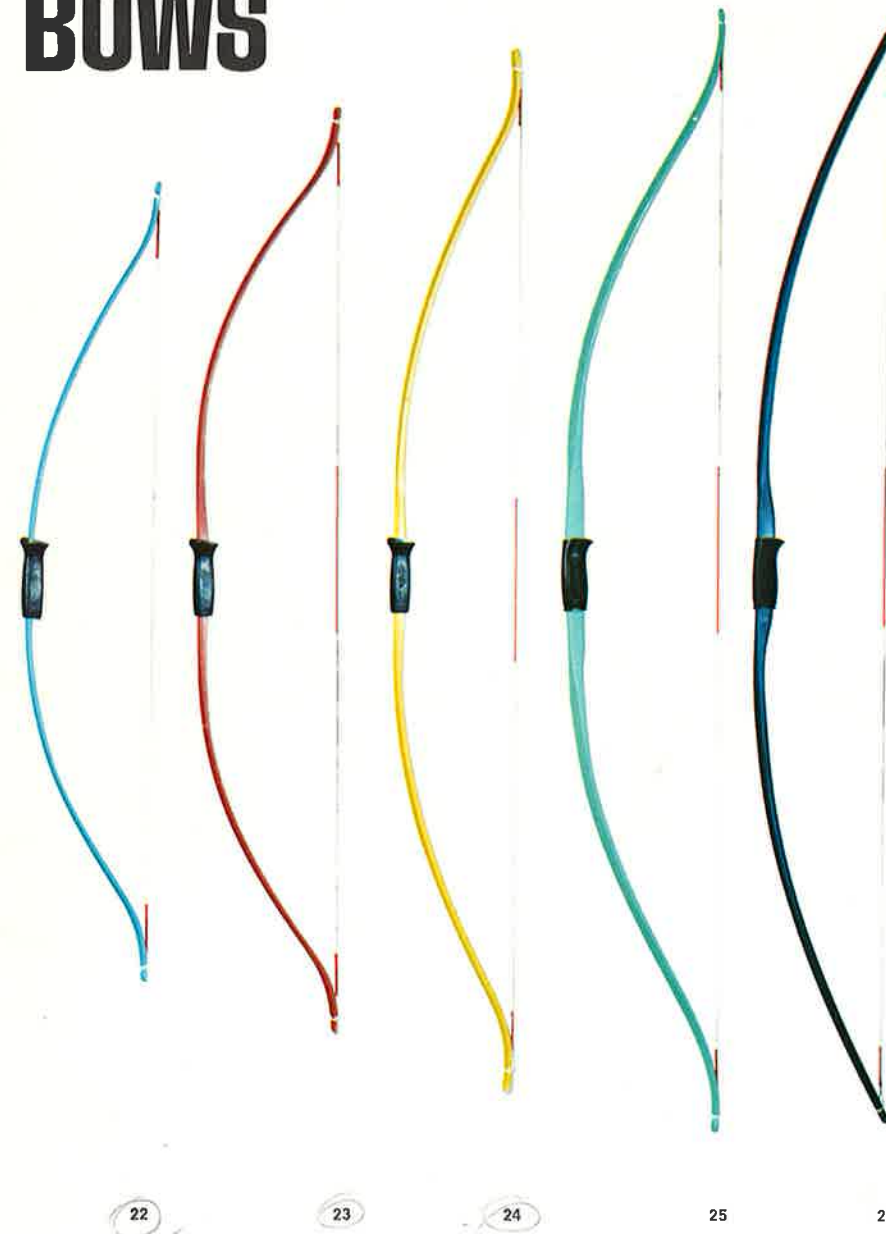

- quick take-apart features that allow you to conveniently carry and store your bow.
- solid fiberglass limbs with fully tapered full working recurve for quick true arrow flight.
- sculptured handle riser section and custom thumb rest
- full sight window with adjustable sight pins to let you zero in on the gold.
- carpeted arrow rest for quiet shooting.

HUNTING ARROWS

The Bleeder® (Pat. Pending)

After years of searching and testing Indian has developed what we believe to be ultimate in a hunting point which is manufactured for us by Midwestern Engineering.

Game is basically killed by hemorrhaging or bleeding and recovered in an area quite distant from where hit. Unless the hunter has a good blood trail to follow, the chance of recovery of the animal is poor.

With other points you run the risk of not having a trail. The ordinary broadhead, if not razor sharp, will not cleanly cut but rather tear the blood vessels, which will reclose shortly through normal coagulation; similarly, the point will slide by or off rather than cut the veins.

The Bleeder, even without a fresh sharpening, assures a blood trail, because blood vessels and veins are forced between the two points of the swept wing resulting in a positive cutting action and a heavy external blood loss.

If you can get off the perfect spinal cord or brain shot, you won't need the bleeder, but for the other 99 percent of the shots, why risk losing your game.

FIELD ARROWS

Points

Indian proudly introduces new Change-A-Points on IA's top aluminum and glass hunting and field arrows.

The Alumiflex® (#74 and #73) and Glassflex® (#64 and #63) shaft comes with a specially developed insert installed — ready to accept a special adapter to fit Bleeders or heads for big game, a blunt point for small game, or a field point. (See below.)

Now you can buy a dozen arrows matched perfectly to your bow and be able to use them as 3 dozen.

Shafts

Indian shafts are of the finest material — The aluminum made to Indian Lifetime Guarantee specification by Easton, the fiberglass straight and strong unaffected by moisture or temperature, the cedar top grade Port Orford.

Fletching and Cresting

Notice the magnificent color coordination between the Indian olive drab, the crestring, and precision ground fletching. Each color combination is distinctive.

New Snap Nocks

Every Indian arrow from the juvenile 26" to the top-of-line aluminum carries a snap nock. An ideal aid for the beginner to prevent the arrow from slipping off the string; for the hunter or tournament shooter, a more positive nocking and greater accuracy.

Glassflex® Target Faces

A new breakthrough in target faces, GLASS-FLEX® FACES are offered by IA with pride. Constructed of an extremely durable, man-made, random spun, waterproof fiber fabric; printed with special water and fade proof inks; these faces will outlast your present targets by at least 5 times or more. Penetrating arrows simply force fibers aside instead of breaking them and back-pull causes no tearing either. Easily scored by lighter bows, these faces will save costs quickly yet offer improved shooting and pleasure.

ARCHERY NOMENCLATURE AND INFORMATION

BOWS

Weight — This is the force in pounds required to draw the bow string 28" from the back of the bow at the arrow rest. For each inch in difference in draw length, add or subtract approximately 2 pounds of bow weight from the weight marked on the bow.

Draw Length — This is the distance at the archer's full draw from the nocking point on the string to the back of the bow at the arrow rest.

String Length — Three inches less than bow length. However, strings should be ordered by bow length and weight as indicated on handle riser.

ARROWS

Length — This is the distance from the bottom of the arrow nock slot to the back of the arrow head. Arrow length will vary depending upon the length of one's arm. However, for all practical purposes arrow length and draw length can be considered the same.

Spine — This indicates how much an arrow shaft will bend or deflect when depressed by a 2-pound weight at its center. This is how arrows are matched to different weighted bows.

COVER INFORMATION

Joe (Kastaway) Kulis, hunting trip consultant and taxidermist, of Bedford, Ohio travelled to Africa in the summer of 1973. His goal—to be the third man ever to get the Big Five—lion, leopard, buffalo, elephant, and rhino—with bow and arrow. His equipment—Indian.

Joe also had one other thing in mind—A wite rhino. The Big Five historically has included the black rhino, both because no permit could be obtained to hunt the wite (Zulu for wide mouth) and because it was considered too tough for a bow and arrow—3,000 lbs. heavier than the black, a 1½" thick hide, and 3 tons of charging power when riled.

On June 23, 1973 after 2½ hours of tracking through the bushy lowlands around Hluhluwe, Natal, Joe came face-to-face with the wite rhino. Seven hours and 3 shots later using an Indian Deerslayer with #74 arrows equipped with #317 4-blade point, Joe dropped the wite, becoming the first man in history to get the Big Five on one trip in one year with a bow.
