

Intent to Teach -- BDEIG Seminar 2021

Class proposals and pictures that were submitted for Seminar 2020 have been saved and will not need to be resubmitted. However, I am asking for each potential teacher for Seminar 2021 to submit a new Intent to Teach. There is room to add more classes, so if you have been thinking about teaching at seminar, this is your chance.

Teachers who submitted class proposals for Seminar 2020 will be contacted and given the option to teach those classes at Seminar 2021.

Intent to teach forms can be returned by email or can be printed and sent by snail mail.

Intent to Teach Form

I intend to submit a teacher's proposal for teaching at Seminar 2021.

I understand that submission of a teacher's proposal does not assure or obligate me to teach at Seminar 2021. The seminar planning committee has the right to refuse any class proposals.

I understand that I must provide professional and effective communications with my students through the spoken word and clear, well-written directions. I am able to provide demonstrations of all techniques taught in the class.

I have high proficiency and knowledge of my subject matter.

I give my permission for all the class proposals I submitted for Seminar 2021 to be placed on the BDEIG Web Site.

I understand that instructors who do not fulfill their seminar teaching obligations, as defined in the seminar Letter to Instructors and the Intent to Teach form, may not be allowed to teach at future seminars, subject to board discretion and possible disciplinary action.
