ANTIOCH METHODIST CHURCH

Contributed by Raymond Richardson, RR 1, Box 85, Centralia, Ill. 62801

(Editor's Note: This material was received too late to be properly placed in the quarterly, but since Antioch is among the older churches of the county, we did want to include it. Since we ended up with a little over a full blank page (for which we will have to pay the printer anyway), we felt it might as well be filled with a "bit of writin'." This article will not be listed in the Table of Contents nor will the names show in the surname index.)

Rev. James I. RICHARDSON, Sr. helped organize and was the first pastor of the Antioch Methodist Church in the northwest part of Raccoon Township, Marion County. This was in 1843.

Before that, he was one of three preachers who led community worshippers in "brush arbor" camp meetings on a spot two miles southwest on the Bert ENGLAND property.

The Antioch Church trustees book has a limited account of building the church in 1843. A quote: "The first seats were called benches and on these seats people would sit and listen to the preaching of God's word as attentively and get just as happy as when sitting on the cushioned seats in many of the churches of the present day." (Isaac BUNDY wrote this in 1886.)
