Research-based and developed by a CEC-led task force of leading transition professionals, the LCE curriculum is designed for students who have learning disabilities, mild intellectual disabilities, autism spectrum disorders, and students whose ability to live independently is in question.

LCE identifies three critical domains for adult living in the 21st century - daily living skills, self determination and interpersonal skills, and employment skills.

LCE further divides these domains into 20 competencies and 94 sub-competencies, further broken down by objective. Within each objective are at least three lesson plans that follow an Awareness, Explanation, Preparation (AEP) learning sequence to ensure true content mastery. Many lesson plans have accompanying fact sheets, worksheets and other activities to provide additional engaging and meaningful learning activities. View the entire LCE Curriculum Matrix to see the depth and breadth of the curriculum as a whole.

If you have taught your students in special education to use independent work systems, you can generalize their independence to the job site.

The great thing about teaching work systems in the classroom is that you can extend them to so many other settings.

INDEPENDENT LIVING SKILLS

The Practical Life Skills Workbook: Self-Assessments, Exercises & Educational Handouts

by Ester A. Leutenberg, John J. Liptak, Amy L. Brodsky (Illustrator)

Life skills are actually more important than a person's intelligence quotient (IQ). They are those invaluable skills people use every day that, if used effectively, allow them to create the life they desire and to access the inner resources needed to succeed. A person's life skills IQ is comprised of many types of intelligence including physical, mental, career, emotional, social, and spiritual intelligence. This book will help participants learn more about themselves and the competencies they possess in many life skills areas.

Beyond is a new course for teenagers, focused on developing the linguistic skills and strategies language learners need. A fusion of life skills and motivating material prepares students for success in the 21st century classroom and beyond.

For Secondary teachers looking to develop the four key language skills in the 21st century classroom Beyond is a new six-level course for teenagers, from A1+ to B2. The course is based on detailed CEFR mapping and helps to prepare students for international exams.

The creative and dynamic approach to topics motivates students to engage with the material, making language learning more meaningful and successful. Two separate video strands (Speaking videos and Moving Picture videos), accompanied by a variety of task types, bring the pages to life and make the new language accessible and motivating for this age group.
