 Do the Math! NCAA Division I men's Lacrosse teams have an average roster size of 45 players but only a maximum of 12.6 scholarships to award per team. This means the average award covers less than 30% of a typical athlete's annual college costs. Lacrosse is an equivalency sport for NCAA limits, so partial scholarships can be awarded as long as the combined equivalent awards do not exceed the limit. For example, an NCAA Division I school can award 24 women lacrosse players each a 1/2 scholarship and still meet the limit of 12 per team. For more information see our page on scholarship limits.

(2) Average Athletic Scholarship is the average award per athlete for ALL varsity sports sponsored by the specific school. Some athletes receive full awards, some receive partial and many receive none. Additionally some sports within a school may be fully funded, some partially and some sports provide no athletic scholarships. Private schools generally have higher tuition than public schools and the average award will reflect this.

New Data! 2016 Athletic Scholarship Averages for NCAA I Lacrosse teams

The following are the results of our 2016 survey of NCAA I schools that sponsored varsity lacrosse teams during their 2015-16 fiscal years. The results reflect the average number of athletic scholarships and the average award per team, as well as the low and high range for the number and average amount of scholarships awards per team:

2016 NCAA Golf

Men's NCAA I Lacrosse Teams	Average	Low	High
Scholarships awarded per team	36	29	43
Average Scholarship per team	$ 12,203	$ 8,078	$ 17,483

Women's NCAA I Lacrosse Teams	Average	Low	High
Scholarships awarded per team	31	23	38
Average Scholarship per team	$ 12,884	$ 3,394	$ 22,842

The number of scholarships awarded is per team, so for 4 year schools typically only 25% or so will be available for the incoming (i.e. freshmen) class. Data includes responding schools only, programs that do not award athletic scholarships (Ivy League, etc.) are not included in these results.

Coach's Corner New Feature!

We asked a few coaches from around the country to take time from their busy schedules and provide some brief input for high school & middle school athletes hoping to play College Lacrosse. Here are some thoughts we believe are particularly helpful:

Jane Ward, Gordon College (NCAA III)

One big mistake I often see is players don't film their games. Coaches may not be able to see a game but need to know if you are a good fit and what your skill level is. While many players create a highlight reel of their best plays, many coaches want to see a consecutive half or 15 minutes of play. This helps the coach see how you play off-ball, what kind of teammate you are, and how you adjust when a play doesn't work out.

Overall, we just want to see you play. Help us to see who you are as an athlete.

Vince Smith, Colorado Mesa University (NCAA II)

I see too many players and families pour too much money into the club scene and not enough time and energy into individual skill development. Invest in a bucket of balls, a speed ladder, a personal trainer and the results will take care of themselves. Yes, players need to play, but they also need the skills to make them a desirable candidate for colleges and universities.

If the potential athlete can hardly shoot the ball with his/her off hand, or cannot move his/her feet well defensively, chances are that player is going to find himself or herself in limbo come time for the college selection process. This is because the largest jump from high school to college is the athleticism and speed of play and this expedited level is a major adjustment no matter where you played in high school. The freshman player able to step on the field right away is few and far between.

While there are a number of qualified clubs and programs out there, simply playing on one does not mean you will be recruited to play college lacrosse. Many of these club organizations use their time more for playing and getting the student athlete exposure and do not effectively focus on skill development. What many families do not realize is that they can get the exposure by filming games, sending tapes and also going to university and college prospect camps

The full scholarship in college lacrosse is essentially a myth, especially In Division II where a team can award a maximum of 10.8 scholarships. That is one of the reasons why academics are so important, potential student athletes with higher high school grades and SAT/ACT scores may qualify for academic aid.

The best steps a player can take to get a chance to play in college is to put yourself in front of the coach, work on your individual skills and get the best grades you can. The student athlete needs to attend prospect camps, go to the university/college they are interested in and help make a name for themselves by playing in front of and introducing themselves to the coach. Good academics are also going to open many doors.

Mike Murphy, Colgate University (NCAA I)

Don't believe the hype. Social media, early commitments and the regular media are trying to bank on hysteria. The college process is not a sprint it's a marathon. In order for any young person to find the right school they have to put in the work. Investigate, research, visit. Just because Joey on your club team is committed as a freshman, doesn't mean you need to be committed as well. Worry about yourself. Very few Division I players are on full scholarship and yes, higher education is expensive, but you will get back what you put in.

Be a multi-sport athlete. Lacrosse is a hybrid sport, be a hybrid athlete. Specialization is not special! Also don't over train. Don't be afraid to be a kid, take some time off! More and more high school students are getting to college beat and banged up. Its due to over training!

Focus on your school work from the very beginning. The better student you are the more opportunities you will have. Don't let athletics be the sole dictator of your college choice. Be the very best student-athlete you can be. Challenge yourself with tough classes. Be great your freshman and sophomore year, don't think you are going to make up a huge amount of ground if you dig yourself a hole your first two years.

Make sure you high school coach is involved. Your club coach may be great and a great resource, but you are paying to be part of the club, your high school coach loves you for you.

Tanya Kotowicz, Quinnipiac University (NCAA I)

Character matters. Work on it every day, make good choices and get involved. Pick a good attitude. As the athlete, take ownership of your college search, let your parents support you, but you do the work. Research all aspects of the school academically and athletically - do your homework.

School first! Open the doors for your lacrosse opportunities by taking care of school. Work hard every day, not once in a while. Who are you when no one is watching?

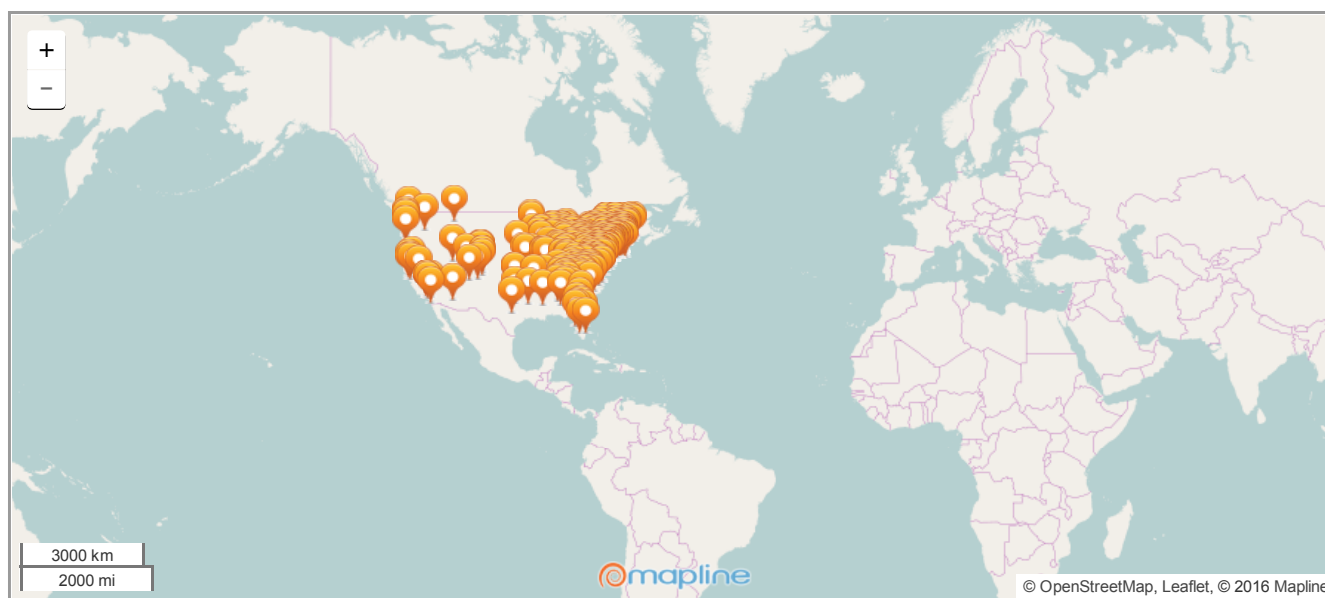

Sign up with the NCAA Eligibility Center and keep your profile updated. Understand the eligibility standards and keep progressing towards them. Meet with a guidance counselor weekly or monthly to update and check in. Understand the finances (financial aid, merit aid, athletic aid) of each university in your search and remember that a full scholarship in lacrosse is rare.

Commit because you have done your homework and it's the place you want to be. Avoid making decisions for the 'dinner talk' or to keep up with the Jones'. Your process isn't someone else's. Once you commit, your work isn't done, it has just begun - keep playing and keep working hard on and off the field.

The College lacrosse experience is multi-faceted – on field performance, off field performance, weight room, conditioning, nutrition, hydration, mental performance, and body maintenance, etc. Once you earn a spot, most of the players you end up playing with were the best too, so what are you made of?

(1) Varsity Rosters may include junior varsity, redshirt, reserve and/or practice squad players and do not reflect club or intramural team participants.

(2) Average Athletic Scholarship is the average amount of athletically related student aid per athlete for ALL varsity sports sponsored by the specific school. Some athletes receive full awards, some receive partial and many receive none. Additionally some sports within a school may be fully funded, some partially and some sports provide no athletic scholarships. Private schools generally have higher tuition than public schools and the average award will reflect this.

(3) SAT Math Average: For each school this represents the range where the middle half of the admitted students scored, so 1/4 scored below the lower end (25th percentile) and 1/4 scored above the upper end (75th percentile).
