Re: Announcement – Webinar on GPCM to be held July 9, 2014 at 10:30am Eastern

All,

As a continuation of interaction with stakeholders on the modeling being used in the Gas-Electric System Interface Study, the EIPC will hold a webinar on July 9, 2014 starting at 10:30am Eastern to review and discuss the details of the pipeline modeling in GPCM. The primary purpose of the webinar is to present greater detail on how the pipeline systems will be modeled in GPCM, to address questions and comments from the pipelines on how their systems are being modeled via GPCM, and seek their input and advice on the modeling being conducted. The webinar is open to all stakeholders, however given the webinar focus, interaction with the pipeline representatives will be given priority.

Please register for the webinar at:

After registering, you will be sent an email with the webinar details, login information, dial-in information, etc. Webinar presentation materials will be posted at a later date.

Please do not hesitate to contact me if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

David A. Whiteley
