FOCUS ON MISSION

CPC'S mission focus for August is the Emergency Food Pantry. For over 40 years, the Emergency Food Pantry has been located in the Fargo-Moorhead community to help feed the citizens of Cass and Clay counties in times of crisis, unemployment, fire, family violence, medical problems, and other difficult situations. The Pantry provides hungry families and individuals with wholesome food to tide them over during these times of emergency.

How can we help? CPC will be collecting non-perishables during the month of August. Needed items include canned tuna, peanut butter, canned fruit, rice, pasta/noodles, toilet paper, and bar soap.

If you are a gardener, you may be able to help by sharing your vegetable harvest. Emergency Food Pantry will park in our parking lot during designated days during August. They will accept donations of surplus garden produce from you and others in the West Fargo and Fargo area so it is available to people who normally do not receive fresh produce. Look for details in upcoming announcements.

Thank you, in advance, for sharing your funds, non-perishable items, and surplus garden produce with the hungry in our community.

PONDERINGS FROM PASTOR CATHIE

Grace to you and peace from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.
(Romans 1:7b)

Here we are with the August newsletter! The last time we had a newsletter it was for June and July; it was spring and now we are deep within the summer season. We appreciate the changing of the seasons, perhaps even more because we live in area of four seasons.

Paul and I had an opportunity to spend four days in Medora during July. We attended a class on "Contemplative Photography." As we were preparing for our class experience, we were given a list of books to read. The two books I read were: Spirituality in Photography: Taking Pictures with Deeper Vision by Philip J. Richter and God Is at Eye Level: Photography as a Healing Art by Jan Phillips.

I classify myself as a "wanna be" phototographer. One of the most significant things I learned was that there is more to photography than just getting our settings correct. The purpose of this particular class was to focus on the word "contemplative." My Thesaurus suggests these words have similar meanings to contemplative: thoughtful, meditative, pensive, reflective, and musing. It can also be a form of prayer.

In our humanness, we do not always take time to be contemplative; even our prayers are often hurried. There is a quote by Thomas Merton, that struck me as summing up the concept of being contemplative. "Stop looking and...begin seeing! Because looking means that you already have something in mind for your eye to find: you've set out in search of your desired object and have closed off everything else presenting itself along the way. But seeing is being open and receptive to what comes to the eye."

Thinking about opening our eyes reminds me that during worship on July 7 we sang the hymn, "Open My Eyes, that I May See." The words reflect Merton's description of "seeing means being open and receptive." If we do not take some time to be reflective, we miss truly appreciating God's creation. When we get so caught up in being busy, it gets in the way of our communication with God.

I learned that I really can't see God's creation when I am preoccupied with my own world. Even a pastor has to learn to slow down so that we can see. One needs to be open and receptive to God so that our lives on earth reflect "seeing" rather than simply "looking" and missing the beauty and meaning of our lives.

One of the pictures I took in the Theodore Roosevelt Park was of tall grasses overlooking a ravine. It was wonderful, and I really thought it was pretty cool. Then, as I pondered this picture, I realized there were three purple cone flowers nestled within the green grasses. Later, I discovered that there were a lot of purple cone flowers I hadn't noticed before. The other thing I hadn't noticed was that they were all in clusters of three. AHA! I would have totally missed seeing had I not taken the time to ponder. As I pondered those clusters of three, I was reminded of God, the Son, and the Holy Spirit. What started as simply taking pictures, moved to a time of prayer and meditation.

Think about it. How would you describe the difference between looking and seeing? Let yourself take time for contemplation, opening your eyes to truly see what God has put before you.

Grace and Peace,
Pastor Cathie

2019 CPC SOFTBALL SEASON COMPLETION

Congratulations to CPC's softball team for yet another year of team play. Players faithfully played a heartfelt game weekly and were able to participate in the playoffs. Audiences enjoyed watching the games. Thanks to the team for representing CPC in a great summer pastime.

FROM
MOVES ON

Our church has listened to Linda Bass talk about her job working with Teen Moms (now Parent Life) many times. Linda has appreciated all our church does for her program. Now after 25 years of ministry, Linda has moved to Oregon to be closer to her daughter Jessica, her family, and of course, the grandkids. Red River Youth for Christ is excited for this new chapter for her, but it is also left with a big hole. Please keep RRYFC in your prayers as it works to best fill the available Parent Life position. It will require a special person who feels called to what God is doing in YFC, and it requires the generous giving of God's people. Also, keep Linda and her family in your prayers as she looks for a new position in Oregon.

PRESBYTERIAN SQUARES BIBLE STUDY

Thankfully, we are finally getting some real summer weather. Due to the late start with summer, there is hope that our fall will also be delayed. This fall, we will not start our Presbyterian Squares Bible study until October 2. We will not meet in September to let everyone get settled back into their fall schedule and to enjoy every bit of the sunshine we can! Watch the next newsletter and the announcements for more details on our women's Bible study!

LADIES CIRCLE RESUMES EARLY

Ladies, join us for Tuesday Afternoon Ladies Circle. It will recommence August 13th in the church narthex. If you like, bring a sack lunch and have fellowship at 12:30 p.m. Otherwise, come ready to begin Bible study at 1:00 p.m. Coffee and treats will be shared later.

The study this year is Love Carved in Stone: A Fresh Look at the Ten Commandments by Eugenia Ann Gamble.

CAUTION: GOOD FOOD & CRAFTS AHEAD!

The Presbyterian Women would like your help in preparation for its annual Fall Bazaar on September 28. If you have crafts, pickles, canned goods, or jelly that you're putting together this summer, please set aside a couple extra to sell at the Bazaar.

Questions? Contact Nancy Kassman, Gloria Ruhnke, Mary Jo Moorhead, Carolyn Meester, Rae Kercher, Mary Bastle, or Sue Hanna.

Thank you in advance for your help!

THANK YOU! THANK YOU!

Thanks to all you cowpokes who helped out at Yee Haw Vacation Bible School. The extra horsepower you put into your task is much appreciated. It was wonderful to watch how God provided the people and resources we needed to make this a special, enjoyable, learning experience for all involved. God truly gives good gifts. Yee Haw! (That's western speak for "Praise God!")

TIME TO DONATE BLOOD

Monday, September 30, from 4:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m. CPC will be sponsoring a Blood Drive. Blood Drive manager Vitalant requires that we sign up in advance to predict the event's feasibility. So, please sign up in the narthex to ensure that we all can give and that you can save your spot.

SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHER NEEDED

With the return of autumn comes the beginning of Sunday School for ages 3 and beyond. Rally Day is Sunday, September 8.

We have been blessed with many volunteers who share the duties of teaching classes. A specific need this year is for a high school teacher. Please See Melanie Hansen if you are able to help.

HOW IT ALL BEGAN

If you saw the last newsletter, you may have noticed that by the time there was one article for each of my five focus areas (relationships, finances, training, spirituality, preparation), the newsletter itself was pretty long. Since I didn't get much response from the last few articles, I came to the conclusion that few people made it to the very end.

So - the next idea is rotate through the five areas one article at a time and see how that goes instead. This is the first attempt at that with an article about my relationship with the PC(USA) and how it all began. I hope you enjoy it.

When I was first asked to serve as an elder in the Presbyterian Church, I had no idea what I was getting into. I had served as the church secretary for a couple of years and had been a very active Christian Ed volunteer for a few years after that, but had only 'officially' joined the church a few months before.

One of the session members had resigned and I was asked to step in to fill the rest of his term. That was it - there was no further explanation. I was then asked if I'd be at church the following Sunday.

I had never seen an officer installation service before - and I had absolutely no idea what was happening when the pastor called me up in front of the entire congregation and started asking me a bunch of questions. The 'laying on of hands' - what was that!? A bunch of people I barely knew suddenly putting their sweaty hands across my shoulders - what was that all about? When it was finally over, I went back to my seat and the little old man in the pew behind me said, "Congratulations - that's a pretty big deal." I had no idea that I'd just been ordained.

Immediately after the service, I followed the pastor into his office and demanded, "What did I just agree to?" He laughed, shook his head, handed me a book of order and said, "Relax - it's all in here." End of conversation.

Of course, he didn't bother to tell me where I would find the questions I'd just agreed to - he just expected me to read the book and figure it out for myself. After a lot of skimming and jumping around, I did eventually find what I was looking for: the constitutional questions. At the time, a few stood out above all the others. First, there were the ones about being guided by the book of confessions. Since I had no idea what they were or what they said, I figured I should probably take a class on that if I could find one. Second, there was a question about following the church's polity. I figured it would be good to find out what 'polity' is, since I'd never heard that word before but had already agreed to follow it.

After more skimming and more jumping around, I found a section that talked about the responsibilities of elders - and how they could be called on to preach. Surprise - I should probably learn how to do that too. Elders are expected to do visits? No one told me that either. I've never done that before - what's that all about?

Finally, I found a section that talked about something called a commissioned lay pastor - and it listed all of the classes that were required in order to be one. There was a class on the book of order, another on the book of confessions - jackpot! I could finally learn whatever it was I needed to know in order to serve as an elder. There was one on preaching, one for pastoral care - those would be helpful too, since apparently that's what elders are supposed to be ready to do. There was one on Christian Ed, the old testament, the new testament, worship and sacraments - those would certainly help with the work I'd been doing with CE for the past several years, so I decided to take those too. By the time I'd gotten through all the classes that explained what I was already doing, I'd nearly completed all of the requirements for the program. Since it seemed pretty stupid to be that far into the program and not finish it, I finally contacted CPM, explained the situation, and asked what else I had to do to become a commissioned lay pastor. I think they were just as surprised as I was.

The whole time I was taking those classes, I just thought, "This is what people do if they want to be a good elder." I had no idea what I'd stepped into. When it came time to be commissioned, people started asking me what I'd like to focus on in my new ministry, which I thought was an odd question. In my mind, my 'new ministry' was simply being an elder.

At the time, I was also leading a number of small groups and adult bible studies. The only thing I really wanted to do was to wrap up each of those studies with a communion service. I had no idea that being a commissioned lay pastor could lead to so much more.

I've since come to the conclusion that God must really love clueless people. Even in our complete ignorance, God calls us and leads us in ways we could never imagine. Simply going through seemingly 'normal' activities, God can use those experiences for purposes beyond our understanding.

May we always be open to the adventure that God has placed before us.

- Marji

CALLING ALL LITURGISTS & MUSICIANS

Having another voice read the liturgy or share music enhances everyone's worship experience. Please prayerfully consider assisting in worship as liturgist or musician.

COMMUNITY PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH WELCOMES MARY JEAN GROSS

In June, CPC hired Mary Jean Gross as its office administrator. Please take a moment to read Mary's introduction and stop to meet her any Monday, Tuesday, or Wednesday to bid her welcome.

I'm happy to introduce myself as the Community Presbyterian Church's new office personnel. My name is Mary Jean (Boese) Gross. I grew up on a farm in the Elizabeth/Fergus Falls area with my parents and three older brothers. I have had a long career in the office and bookkeeping fields at a variety of businesses including Gross Disposal Service, Otter Tail Co., OT nursing & group homes, OTVR railroad and Lake Region Arts Council. As volunteer treasurer at the Faith Lutheran Church and Lakes Area Community Center, I set up computer accounting software.

After downsizing from a three-story, 125-year-old home on a twenty acre hobby farm in Otter Tail County, my husband and I moved to the South Shore Landing Apartments in Moorhead, where our 18-year-old granddaughter, Alexandra, and a feisty cat, named Luna, live with us. It has been an exciting experience to go from always living on the lake or in the country to now being a city dweller.

My greatest joy in life is spending time with our daughter, Tina, son-in-law Juan, son Clint, and his daughter Alexandra.

I also enjoy keeping in touch with extended family and friends via social media, reading, belonging to a book group, walking in the beautiful park by our apartment building, going to museums, visiting state parks, and attending music performances and other art events.

YEAR-TO-DATE GIVING UPDATE

General Operating budget
2019: $149,928.50
Weekly funds needed to meet
budget: $2,883.24

Actual giving to date           $ 59,403.40
Actual expenses to date       $ 66,998.82
Net income to date           $ -7,595.42

This does not include the mortgage payment of $3,146.54. There are funds in the building fund account to cover the mortgage payment through December.

Per Capita amount for 2019 is $46.00 for each confirmed member. The assessed amount for 2019 is $8,326.00. So far $2,469.00 has been designated to our per capita assessment. Please mark on your check or envelope funds you are contributing to Per Capita.

God wants us; He wants the givers, not just the gifts from the givers. He doesn't need our gifts, but we have a need to give. God wants us to honor Him through our faithful and generous giving. When we make giving a priority week after week, He is honored.

SUMMER FOOD PROGRAM 2019

On June 3, we began our second year of serving lunch to children at the playground across the street from South Elementary School.

Our hours of serving are slightly different from last year. We serve from 12:10 p.m. to 12:40 p.m. Adding time to set up and clean-up, two persons will be needed from about 11:45 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. Monday through Friday. Our last day for serving is Friday, August 16.

Thanks to all who have kept this project running. New folks are always welcome to help. To help, please sign up on the narthex bulletin board.

BUILDING PAINTING PLANNED

The Worship Committee and Trustees are excited to let you know that Session has approved the painting of the sanctuary. Due to the height of the walls and issues with soot, a professional painter will be hired to complete this project. The walls will be cleaned, primed, and painted within the next couple of months. The cost to have this done is $3,900.

A special fund will be set up for individuals who would like to make a donation towards the cost of this project. To make a donation, please make out your checks to Community Presbyterian Church or fill out a pew envelope clearly indicating it is for "Painting."

If you have any questions, please feel free to contact either Bob Kozojed, Trustee Liaison, or Laurie Elhard, Worship Committee Liaison.

DEACONS

If anyone in the congregation is hospitalized or needs a visit, contact the Deacons.

If anyone in the congregation would like home communion service please contact Lise Alves.
