THIS WEEK IN REVIEW!

Hello Everyone! So good to be chatting with you all again. Last week was a short week for us because of the 4th of the July holiday but we have been busy this week! Two summer camps with young folks busy creating!

Debbie Craig's Clay and Collage camp is always a big hit. There is just something magical about playing in the mud and creating.

Debbie has one more week of camp. Next weeks camp is full and I look forward to having kids with us for one more week.

Don't forget that there are adult pottery classes that are ongoing and a kids pottery class that is ongoing as well. Just because summer camps are over doesn't mean that you can't come play in the mud.

This week we have also had another one of Bob Pendarvis Sequential art groups creating story through pictures.

Fun group of young people and I am sure we will be seeing more of their work in the future!

Also this week, Lisa Cushing Kent has been teaching a wonderful beginning metal jewelry workshop. The students have been busy creating wonderful masterpieces.

These artists have another week of creating and I am excited to see what they do!

Well, we got some sad news this week. Our very own volunteer extraordinaire has resigned from his post as our regular Wednesday morning go-to man. Dick Snyder is making plans to do more traveling with his wife. He will be missed!

Thank you Dick for everything you have done for us.

If you're looking for something to do in your spare time, consider volunteering with us.

We would be lost without our volunteers who help us.
Volunteers are the lifeblood of GVA and we can't do it with out you!

Don't forget about the Handmade for the Hungry classes.
And check out our website for all things GVA!

Look forward to seeing you soon.
