

When moving long distance, not everything can be packed on the moving truck.

In most cases Riley and Sons Moving cannot transport perishable items, including produce, plants, frozen or refrigerated foods and open or half-used food containers.

Additionally, many common household items are not safe for transport under any circumstances. For the safety of your family, movers and others on the road, we cannot transport hazardous items, including explosives, flammable gases and toxic substances.

Please read this list carefully prior to packing so that you can separate these non-allowable items from the rest of your belongings. Most of these items are likely to be found in your garage or with your household cleaning supplies, while others may be scattered throughout your house. If you have questions about a particular item, please reach out to Riley and Sons Moving for clarification.

Keep in mind that these items are hazardous and must be disposed of properly to comply with federal, state and local laws and to protect the environment.

Aerosol Cans

Pesticides

Household Batteries

Ammonia

Poison

Kerosene

Ammunition

Pool Chemicals

Fire Extinguishers

Car Batteries

Propane Tanks

Charcoal/lighter fluid

Chemistry Sets

Charged Scuba Tanks

Cleaning Solvents

Liquid Bleach

Darkroom Chemicals.

Loaded Guns

Fireworks

Matches

Fertilizer

Nail Polish/Remover

Propane Tanks

Paint Thinners

Rubbing Alcohol

Paints/Varnish

Sterno Fuel

Weed Killer

Fuels/Oils