

Maroc Model United Nations MMXVIII

Delegate Pledge

As a Model UN conference that is both an educational and social event, MaMUN recognises that we have a responsibility to provide a safe, inclusive and rewarding experience for each and every delegate who participates in our activities and committees.

Likewise, in order for such a high-quality environment to be maintained throughout the conference, delegates, staff, volunteers, and sponsor teachers must commit to meeting certain standards of behaviour, which will aid in improving every participant's experience.

Attending a Model UN conference, especially one that gives a large amount of creative freedom and autonomy, is a privilege that MaMUN reserves the authority to protect under this Commitment of Conduct, which may include the ability to notify r teachers, suspend delegates from debate. We strive to balance the enjoyment of Model UN with the responsibilities and obligations we must uphold while facilitating a conference for over 300 participants.

Delegates are committed to:

Being respectful to all other members of the conference and guests of the hotel. This includes:

- ❖ Resolving conflicts peacefully
- ❖ Seeking help when needed
- ❖ Following and respecting all rules and requests from CAIMUN and the hotel
- ❖ Observing the curfew

Being professional in my committee sessions. This includes:

- ❖ Attending all committee sessions possible
- ❖ Letting the Director know if he/she will be late or absent from a committee session
- ❖ Wearing Western business attire during all my committee sessions

Being a law-abiding citizen, in the spirit of Model UN. This includes:

- ❖ Not possessing or using any alcoholic, illicit drug, or any other illegal substances
- ❖ Not engaging in disorderly conduct or violence

Being responsible with electronic and Internet privileges provided by MaMUN This includes:

- ❖ Using electronics and the Internet for committee-related purposes only during committee session
