Privacy Policy

Personal information

We store and maintain your contact information in order to communicate with you.

Uses

We may send you information including news, items of interest, e-mails, prayer vigils and alerts concerning the community and its members.

Information Sharing

We do not intentionally share, sell, or exchange any personal information such as your name, email address, phone number, or mailing address.

Your Choices

You may request to change or delete your personal contact information at any time by contacting the webmaster or any of the CAEW Board Members on the www.caew.org site with your request. Changes are processed immediately without question or delay.
