

A BREAKTHROUGH TO HAPPEN...

Don't wait for your breakthrough. Master the skill and the anointing to forcibly resist and apply pressure to any obstruction hindering your entry into the marketplace. With the advent of the Internet, there are endless opportunities for you in the book industry.

Although there is a process, you don't have to reinvent the wheel. Seek the Lord's face until you receive his purpose and plan for your life. As your path unfolds, you will be convinced God archived his purpose for you from the foundation of the world. Document his plan as you receive clarity about your direction. God's vision is always greater than your faith. Allow the Word and the Holy Spirit to qualify you to do the impossible. Faith in God is when the impossible becomes the inevitable. Anything you can't do can be traced to yielding to more of your own leadership than God's. Be obedient to step out on the Word of God that is real to you as the Holy Spirit gently leads.

Understand God is the life of your ministry and you are His tailor-made sanctuary. Always walk in humility, being mindful that you can't even breathe by yourself. Allow your pen to be a ready writer, where God can count on you to be sensitive and responsive to what He wants published.

What's more important to God than your skill is the character, fruit, and the power of the Holy Spirit you exhibit daily. Imaging Jesus Christ is the key to good success, so the phrase "starving artist" doesn't have to be a part of your vocabulary. Strive for excellence and rise beyond industry standards. Perfect your skills through perfect practice. The phrase "good enough" should never be acceptable.

Acquire self-publishing information and industry knowledge through the Internet, library, local colleges and/or seasoned professionals then filter it through the lens of scripture. Make yourself available to share knowledge with those who commit to mentoring others.

Remember promotion only comes from God, so trust and release him to work for you. God never deviates from his own Word nor breaks the law to bring you success. Then watch your gift make room for you, always enlarging your territory.

Read All Over Publishing
Cleveland, OH