

“Voices Against Violence: Race, Guns, Police”

A Tribunal for and about Long Island

Friday, April 28, 2017

8:30 a.m. – 1 p.m., Student Union, Multipurpose Rooms

“Voices Against Violence” will begin with a one-day tribunal where leaders and citizens from across Long Island can speak to the concerns of our region and offer their input to create potential solutions. As per the Merriam-Webster definition, a “tribunal” is “something that decides or determines.”

In that spirit, this effort will be led by a leadership panel comprised of officials from law enforcement, education, religious institutions, the media, educators, and local and state government. This leadership panel will hear testimony from community leaders on April 28, 2017 and then, with that as a foundation, announce at a later date an agenda of actions that can be pursued to improve relations among those who share our Long Island home.

Leadership Panel (in formation)

- New York State Senator Carl Marcellino
- Nassau County Police Commissioner (Acting) Thomas Krumpter
- Suffolk County Police Commissioner Timothy Sini
- Chiefs of Police Association Of Suffolk County, Inc. Past President Marvin Fischer
- Long Island Council of Churches Executive Director Rev. Dyanne Pina
- Newsday Columnist Joye Brown
- Moderator: SUNY Old Westbury President Dr. Calvin O. Butts, III

More than 30 community groups and civic leaders have been invited to speak before the panel.

Public welcome to attend.
