In Other News, NanoSave Technologies is preparing its Q1 2017 Financial statements which will reflect the company's acquisition of the Viritron VDX and VPN Patents and Q1 revenues. The Q1 financials will reflect the company's first full quarter as NanoSave Technologies Inc. since parting from N1 Technologies Inc. in Q4 2016. The company continues to expand rapidly; corporate accountants have indicated that the first quarter numbers were clearly positive and may have exceeded initial expectations. "We feel very strongly that our numbers will be a pleasant surprise as we combine the operating accounts of NanoSave and N1 into a consolidated financial statement, with both assets and revenues hitting all time highs. We are looking forward to opening new markets in the bio technology arenas and streamlining all aspects of our operations," says Company CEO Steve Lovern. The company envisages these new Bio Tech Patents and Technologies as an exceptional opportunity for our investors going forward. NanoSave Technologies designs, develops, manufactures and markets a wide range of nano-engineered oil products, lubricants and marine coatings to a global market.
