Rather than pay a full time, basically qualified employee an average base salary - on top of taxes, competitive benefits and workspace - consider this alternative:

- Hire a highly qualified freelance paralegal for a flat rate that covers only the project you need done,
- while you also continue to work on your client's case in areas you prefer to handle yourself, (or use the extra time to grow your law practice) -
- and be able to bill for your hours AND the freelance paralegal's work!

It's a win-win!

You save money and resources by hiring a freelancer,
and your client is exceedingly happy with your service!
