

DEHLINGER WINERY

2013 Goldridge Russian River Valley

Dehlinger has produced estate-grown Russian River Valley Pinot Noir since the late 1970s. Planted between 1975 and 2011, the Pinot Noir vines are primarily clones of Pommard and Swan, with smaller amounts of Martini, Clone 943, and Calera.

The Goldridge Pinot Noir bottlings pay homage to the deeper Goldridge soils where the vines tend to be more vigorous. A bright, red fruit character and approachable structure are typical of our Goldridge Pinot Noirs, which we have produced since the mid-1990s.

The top sections of the vineyard are bottled under the special High Plains and Octagon designations when the vintage quality permits.
