How do you cope when you feel your heart is breaking?

You are not alone.

St. Luke’s Health System Fetal Medicine program offers free supportive services through the Daniel’s Gift Program. Staffed by trained specialists, Daniel’s Gift provides emotional, social, and practical support during this time of uncertainty. Together, you and your Daniel’s Gift counselors can create a plan for your pregnancy and beyond – a plan based on your individual needs and decisions, whatever they may be.

We’re here to help.
Contact Daniel’s Gift Supportive Counseling Services,
At 208-410-9174 or Email jacquelynb@slhs.org

©2012 Intermountain Healthcare. All rights reserved.
When you’re expecting, there’s so much excitement. However, if you learn that your baby may have a life-threatening or life-limiting condition, the news can be devastating.

Daniel’s Gift services may include visits, phone calls, referrals, and written materials. In some cases, participants may choose to meet with others who have faced similar situations. At every step of your journey, Daniel’s Gift supports you and your family, helping to bring meaning to your experience now and hope for the future.

What does Daniel’s Gift do?

Staffed by qualified nursing and grief specialists, the Daniel’s Gift program includes meetings, materials, contacts, and referrals as needed. It begins with a staff member calling the patient and arranging an initial visit (if desired). This visit usually takes place in the patient’s home. Here the staff member explores the family’s concerns and helps create a plan to meet their support needs. The plan often includes information on advanced planning and outlines a schedule of visits from Daniel’s gift staff. Written materials and information about community resources supplement the plan.

Daniel’s Gift staff members maintain support throughout the pregnancy and after the delivery of the baby, for up to 18 months after delivery if desired. Support may include making visits and phone calls, and referring patients to other community resources as needed.