

Thank You for considering our Auction firm and Auction Time to market your items. I have had great success marketing equipment on this site. Below you will find online auction information and our commission schedule. Each item sold will have the commission and fee charged to I believe you made an excellent choice by considering our company and AuctionTime.com to the final selling price based on the price range it falls into.

Most sellers find the greatest success when they sell their items "Absolute" (Item sells after $100). This method creates the most interest from buyers in the item and does not set a preconceived price in the bidder's mind. If an item is sold "Absolute" then obviously there are no no-sale fees charged to the seller. If you would prefer to set a starting price or "Reserve" on an item, then it will have the reserve listed as the starting price in the listing. If your item is listed with a starting price that does not get exceeded, then it is considered unsold and the seller is charged only the Auction Time or No sale fee shown below. Auction Time fees are charged directly to the Auction firm whether the item sells or not, therefore, Seller's that wish to list their items in this manner will be required to prepay the Auction Time fee prior to listing the item. Commission fees will not be charged to an unsold item, only the Auction Time fee or No Sale fee. If an item is listed with a starting price and it does sell, then only the commission will be charged to the proceeds since the Auction Time fee has already been paid.

In order to market your items with the greatest chance for success we will need as many photos as possible (3-8 for non motorized and basic items and 10-20 for motorized and larger pieces). Short video footage of your item operating also creates added interest. You can send this info to me directly at jeffbooneauctions@gmail.com or into my Dropbox account. At any time we can update and add information to your listing prior to the day before the auction. We will collect the funds from the purchaser and notify you as soon as we receive them so you can release for pick-up or delivery to the purchaser. We will send you your proceeds 1 to 3 business days after they have cleared our account.

Feel free to email, text or call anytime with your questions or thoughts.
