WORLD COMMUNICATIONS DAY MAY 24TH

Today Catholics are invited to reflect upon the media of social communication (films, radio, television, newspapers, audiovisuals) and how these influence our lives. The media can promote values that lead to a more fully human society. The Church's ministry is twofold. The media can be used to help promote the Gospel. At the same time, as receivers of the materials presented by the media, the faithful have a duty to support and promote worthwhile presentations on media and reject those which promote values contrary to spiritual growth.

Link to view the message from His Holiness Pope Francis for the 54th World Communications Day:

A Prayer for Communications Sunday

O God, whose word is truth and in whose light we see light,
Guide those who tell the story of our times through word and image.
Make them seekers after truth and advocates of human dignity.
Grant discernment to all who rely on their labours,
and, as we confront the pain and promise of this world,
awaken in us a sense of wonder at your presence and of longing for your peace.

Heartfelt Sympathies are extended to the families of Geraldine Gillespie
and Lynn Somers
and to all those who mourn the loss of a loved one.....

Archbishop Vienneau's - "Consecration of the Archdiocese of Moncton to the Holy Virgin Mary in this Time of Pandemic"

<http://www.diomoncton.ca/en/index> There are new items on the diocesan web site including the recent letter from Pope Francis and also some upcoming "virtual" events.

Prayers of the Faithful

For the Church throughout the world: reminding us that Jesus is with us always.

We pray:

For our faith communities longing for God's Word and the Eucharist.

We pray:

For world leaders, scientists, medical staff, and all who work to keep us safe.

We pray:

For resilience, charity and compassion as we live through this pandemic.

We pray:

For the poor, for the homeless, for those living with addiction, and for those without access to healthcare or the basic necessities of life.

We pray:

For the sick; for those who have died, including Lynn Somers and Geraldine Gillespie and to all who mourn the loss of a loved one.

We pray.

Relentless Hope

It is a quote that I use frequently when sleep does not come. This week has been one of those weeks. We are being battered, and though important to put it in perspective, remembering that others have suffered much worse for far longer, the tragedies are relentless. Every week there is something else. Poor Nova Scotia; I'm not sure how much more they can take.

"Remember, I am with you always, to the end of the age." Those with faith know that to be a truth. Those with faith know the importance of keeping "the hope to which [we are] ... called." Those with faith know "it is not for [us] to know the times or periods ..." And those with faith are still permitted to shout 'enough is enough.'

Our young people want to celebrate their graduations from high school and university; our young couples want to celebrate their weddings in traditional ways; our families who are mourning the death of loved ones want to celebrate their lives surrounded by family and friends; our children and their parents want to celebrate the sacraments of initiation; our faithful want to gather in their faith communities on Sunday morning; our grandparents want to hold their new grandchildren. We want to mark the days of summer by laying on the beach, opening our tables and our homes to friends, mingling with children and their parents on the soccer pitch, travelling across the country and around the world on vacation. And if we can't do any of that yet, we at least want to know when we can ... by July? by September? by Christmas? The advertisements from the province and the country tell us while we are apart now, we won't be forever. Two plus months in, it is beginning to feel like forever.

Yet this is where I saw God this month: our closest friends celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary Wednesday past. Such a significant milestone was unable to be celebrated in the way they had planned. Instead, they organized a virtual gathering with their families and closest friends, renewed their vows, shared a glass of wine (or two), viewed a slide show of 25 years of love and memories and danced together.

Our son Marc celebrated a birthday earlier this month. Birthdays are big in our house, and none bigger than Marc's. 35 of our friends drove 18 of their decorated cars up and down our street for 10 minutes blowing their horns, delivering treasures to mark the occasion. Later that night 20 of 22 of his cousins participated in a Zoom gathering to wish him the best. All his aunts and uncles contacted him through text, phone calls or FaceTime.

My youngest brother celebrated a birthday this month also, and his youngest child organized a surprise Zoom gathering so all his siblings could sing Happy Birthday together.

I could go on and on, and this is only in my very small part of the world. "I am with you always." Keep "the hope to which he has called you." Enough is enough; we are tired of the pandemic; we are tired of the seemingly endless tragedy. Yet somehow, God is with us ... always. Maybe we don't need to know when it will end; faith simply tells us that it will. For today ... that is enough.

Prayers with children

*"Father, We thank thee for the night,
And for the pleasant morning light;
For rest and food and loving care,
And all that makes the day so fair.
Help us to do the things we should,
To be to others kind and good;
In all we do, in work or play,
To grow more loving every day."*

Amen

Throughout the month of May let us journey together and enter deeper into the loving embrace of our Blessed Mother. She will in turn bring us closer to the ultimate relationship with Her Son, our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.

Join me each day as I offer a reflection based on the writings St. John Henry Cardinal Newman from a collection of his writings entitled Meditations on Mary, Our Mother.

Mary played a significant part in the journey of this blessed Saint from Anglicanism to the Roman Catholic faith. The brilliance of this man's mind will help us focus on our own journey towards God. Fear not that it will be complicated as we will journey with our loving Mother as our guide.

Each day I will offer a reflection posted to our Diocesan website and our own Queen of All Saints website, with an invitation to join me afterward to say the Rosary.

I hope you will join St. John Henry Cardinal Newman and myself for our Month of Mary.
