May 14, 2017
Fifth Sunday of Easter
John 14:1-12

Thomas said to him,
“Master, we do not know where you are going; how can we know the way?”

Although he had followed Jesus for several years, Thomas had some questions. But we should not judge him too harshly. Remember, when the other disciples cautioned Jesus not to go near Jerusalem to visit Lazarus and his sisters, it was Thomas who said, “Let us go die with him.” So when Jesus said, “Where I am going you know the way” it is understandable that Thomas was not sure what he meant. Thomas did not say “What will happen to me?” or “I won’t go.” He did not lack faith in Jesus. He was willing to die with him. He did not yet understand the details and he had the courage to speak up. In his homily on April 3, 2014 Pope Francis said “Prayer should be like speaking face-to-face with a friend: without fear, freely and also with insistence” and “Don’t hold back when praying to God -- tell him exactly what’s wrong and insist on holding him to his promises.” That is what Thomas did. During this season of Easter that is how we should pray to God - face to face, friend to friend, on a first-name basis with Jesus.
