Angela Coulter—ACT Private Tutor

Louisiana State University Shreveport

As a psychology major, Angela is finishing her senior year at LSUS where she plans to attend graduate school. Her dream and aspiration is to help people realize their full potential through behavioral therapy. She is the Treasurer of the Psychology Club and an advocate for numerous volunteer organizations on Barksdale Air Force Base.

Since high school, she has tutored students in core subjects, and in June 2016 she obtained certification to teach as an ACT Instructor. As a teacher and tutor, Angela provides an accessible approach to understanding the content and strategies for academic improvement. She uses her expertise as a Princeton Review certified tutor to dispel ACT myths and inspire confidence in her students. Outside the classroom, Angela loves to read, garden, and play on her ukulele.
