5/6/63	Commenting on Streight's Raid, an editor offered the following. "The important service rendered by the brave citizens of Floyd County, who...held the Yankee cavalry in check near Rome...is an evidence of what might have been done for the defense of the State had the Legislature...adopted proper measures for the organization of the local militia." Footnote 126: "What Armed Citizens Can Do," Savannah Daily Morning News, May 6, 1863, https://gahistoricnewspapers.galileo.usg.edu/lccn/sn82015886/1863-05-06/ed-1/seq-2/
5/8/63	The action of Forrest and his troopers continued to dominate the daily news. The North Georgia Times reported, "When it is considered what a daring raid the enemy aspired to...what irreparable damage they had deliberately planned...it is wonderful how Gen. Forrest has managed to prevent the consummation of their designs." Footnote 128: "Gen. Forrest's Great Victory Near Rome," North Georgia Times, May 8, 1863, https://gahistoricnewspapers.galileo.usg.edu/lccn/2020233226/1863-05-08/ed-1/seq-2/.
