

2017
Johnston Running Club
Scholarship Application

High School Seniors:

Well, your senior year of high school is nearing its conclusion and, before you know, you'll be a high school graduate and getting ready to go to college. A college education isn't getting any cheaper these days and every dollar in scholarships you can earn is one less dollar (plus any interest) that you'll have to pay in student loans one day.

Along those lines, the Johnston Running Club is happy to announce that it is putting up a $1,000.00 scholarship for one high school senior boy and a $1,000.00 scholarship for one high school senior girl who will be attending college for the 2017-18 school year. Although the Johnston Running Club is, obviously, located in Johnston, potential recipients are not limited only to seniors at Johnson High School. The only requirement, aside from being a senior in high school that will be going to college this fall, is that recipients must have had some involvement with the Johnston Running Club, either as an athlete for the club or as a volunteer, or both. Even if you have not had involvement with the Johnston Running Club yet, there is still time for you to meet that requirement by participating as an athlete this spring or, perhaps more likely, volunteering with the club.

The steps in applying for the scholarship are:

1. Complete the application page (the second page of this document).
2. Type an essay no longer than one page on how running and/or track and field have impacted your life and how it will continue to be a part of your life in college and beyond (make sure your essay has your name on it).
3. E-mail the application page and essay to the Johnston Running Club at johnstonrunning@gmail.com. Make sure to put "JRC Scholarship Application" in the subject line of your e-mail or mail to:
