

Nora Nevera

I moved to Albuquerque 17 years ago when my husband was still on active duty with the Air Force. Albuquerque quickly became home and we stayed after his retirement from the military. Over the years I have worked digitally, with Acrylics and am now working in watercolor. In particular, a technique called Splash Ink which begins with blank ink splashed on rice paper and then "splashing" the primary colors on top of the black ink creating beautiful and unique abstract paintings.
