Great fun, great food, great accommodations

Wolf Lake

Thirteen miles long, three miles wide, 250 feet deep and full of structure, Wolf Lake is the perfect trout lake.

Easy to navigate even for the novice, guiding becomes an option rather than a necessity.

Because of the structure of the lake and the temperature of the water, we generally only fish the top 25 to 50 feet of water, making the use of downriggers unnecessary.

Trophy lake trout on the fly becomes a reality.

Wolf River

The Wolf River is one that truly defies description with merely words alone.

Described as the best grayling fishery in the world by some very experienced anglers, this river is home to many grayling approaching world record size.

The river is completely wadeable, making it a perfect fly fishing river, but also great fun with spinning gear.

May Lake

A short hike on a good path through the wilderness leads to May Lake.

Known for its superb pike action and plentiful red fin trout, this lake makes for a great day trip on a warm sunny day.
