In the spirit of the New Year, let me share my letter to President Jimmy Carter.

Dear President Jimmy Carter, my name is Robert Woodard and I am a barber in the Wynnefield section of Philadelphia. As you may know, barbers were the original surgeons and doctors, which lead me to why

I am writing to you concerning your miraculous recovery from cancer.

I recently lost my “first sister born” to cancer. My mother, Gloria Woodard, had 10 children and my “first born sister” was number five. How I wish she was still alive and cancer free. You, President Carter, are a miracle walking, because from what I learned, you had cancer of the brain and a tumor in your liver, one of which was a very aggressive type of cancer.

I applaud the doctors that gave you the proper attention to allow your immune system to get stronger. As you may know, in America the normal procedure for cancer is to break down the immune system to allow chemotherapy to kill the cancer cells. The problem with that procedure is that it doesn't give the immune system the best fighting chance. I am a firm believer that the cure to most diseases comes from within. Therefore, it makes it difficult to totally understand how different each person's immune system handles the process of healing from disease.

I believe that the brain plays one of the biggest roles in healing the body of disease, but the immune system and the brain must work together. By building the immune system up to its highest height by involving certain nutrients along with positive thoughts, can make the biggest difference on the road to healing.

President Carter, I applaud you for being an extremely positive thinker.

Many people lack the proper nutrients and that means a large number of Americans are overweight, yet many suffer from malnutrition. By finding out what your nutritional deficiency is will help to bring balance back to your immune system. This balance will assist most people from becoming sick in the first place.

As a barber at Woodard's Barbershop, we continue to bring this information to all of my patrons as well as the general public. This practice all started in my barbershop after many years of overcoming the disease of obesity that affected me.

I was forced to realize that proper nutrients played the biggest role in healing me of this disease. I weighed over 300 pounds and because of this, my blood pressure was sky-high. All this would have led me to a heart attack, stroke, cancer, diabetes and an array of other diseases and disorders of the body.

After realizing this, I have learned that the energy of the immune system and healing is contagious to say the least.

Once I knew that the cure came from within, I wanted to take it outside the doors of the barbershop. I was asked by the owner of the radio station WURD 900AM and the previous owner of WHAT 1340AM, Mr. Cody Anderson, to have my own talk show, which was live on the air for over five years. The history of the barber's pole was what enabled me to interview many surgeons and doctors of science and research on my Barbershop Talk Radio Show.

Dear President Carter, it is my prayer that because of your miraculous recovery from cancer, that you will help me spread the good news that the cure comes from within. I'm sending you a copy of a live Barbershop Talk Radio Show with Dr. Suzanne M. De La Monte, who discovered what causes Alzheimer's. Dr. De La Monte was also on the "Doctor Oz Show."

I would like you to share the information on the CD with your Sunday school students. So they, too, can learn the importance of nutrients and how it can help them fight disease before they are affected by it.

Happy holidays to you and your family, because you have truly been blessed.

P.S. President Carter, the disease of America's social disconnect about race needs to be improved. How we as Americans view race can become a healing force in an ailing society.
