About Me

I'm a Christ follower before anything else. In addition to being loved by God, I have the privilege of being loved by a husband, Shawn, and five children: Luke (Tara), Ethan, Joel, Levi and Faith. My life is ordered around family activities and church. Because my husband is senior pastor of Victory Lutheran Church, we tend to be rather involved with many facets of church life and have always enjoyed teaching and disciplining youth. I love being used to lead praise and worship in any capacity and recently, I enjoy writing worship songs.

It is my joy to teach history and geography from a Biblical perspective. There is no better thing than to engage the culture in conversations that matter but first, it is imperative to have a foundation of knowledge and wisdom as a springboard for further opportunities.
