

*As I sat quietly this morning, I began to worship the Master;
I started out being honest with my Heavenly Father.
Telling Him, I was sorry for all the times I had grieved Him and began to repent for sin.
Then, I began to quiet my soul before Him;
Sitting patiently in His presence, I was waiting on Him.
So much to do, so much to say,
Here and there, so much to pray.*

*I just sat quietly for a moment more; to allow Him to have His way with me this morning.
Not my agenda, His agenda.
Immediately, I felt a strong presence of God and peace that swept over me, like a warm autumn breeze.*

As I stood there two angels lifted me up and carried me into the throne room, into the Holiest of Holies, it was like you see in a ballet where there are two dancers running, carrying the ballerina across the stage.

I was brought before the Master.

Standing before Him I felt such reverence, silently basking in His holiness, peace, and beauty with great anticipation, I have never been here before.

*The longer I stood there, the brighter the light became.
So bright as if it could burn through your body, yet there was no heat.*

At that moment, every sin, every mistake, every wrong turn, every disease, every dark place of my soul, every shadow was cast behind me and was no more, I became liquid holiness. Tangible Holiness illuminated my being.

As I stood there, before Him; I had a revelation of being totally pure, holy, blameless, and righteous before Him...

I was perfected without blemish in His sight.

The Master said, "This is the place I have prepared for you".

*Then I stood there a bit longer, all the while the light was getting brighter and brighter....
I felt as though, there was not an inch of my body that had not been penetrated by this Light.*

At that moment, I became extremely large. I became a giant.

I looked down and all of my worries, trials, family issues, health, hindrances, debt, everything that has been in the forefront of my mind: was now at my feet, and all were as small to me as ants. They were not as big as they seemed, I was the giant.

These things that were previously so enormous to my carnal mind and troublesome were now a speck at my feet.

And the Master said, "This is the place I have prepared for you".

*Tears streaming down my face, as I stood there in the His glorious presence....
The Master said, "That's not all."*

*Just when you think, wow; I am in total awe of the Lord of Glory.....
What more can one ask of Him???*

Suddenly, I was dressed in a bridal gown, this wasn't an ordinary gown, it was heavy laden with diamonds, and a crown of precious gemstones was placed on my head. Tears continued to stream down my face, as I began to weep; thinking, not me, I don't deserve all of this...

*Look where I have been, Look what I have done....
The Master wiped away every tear and said, "Not here, no tears here."*

He led me through beautiful pastures, valleys of peace, and magnificent gardens.

I was taken to this golden palace to meet my bridegroom; there were jewels all over the place. There were golden paths that were illuminated by His presence. The array of colors was vibrantly alive, absolutely magnificent.

*He was taking me to the royal palace, where a royal robe was placed over me and servants just waiting for me to speak so they could act upon my wishes, and in the beauty of the palace garden, I was brought before the bridegroom. He placed his hands over mine and pulled me close, so close I could feel his heart beating, as He looked into my eyes...
I was face to face with my Savior, my Lord.
I went to bow my head; and as I did...*

*He gently lifted my chin and said, "Not here, there is no shame here, no condemnation here, you are My chosen bride.
Lift up your head and hold it up in confidence; You are Mine."*

Then I heard the Master say, "This is the place I have prepared for you".
