Naturist Beach Etiquette for Blind Creek Beach

- Apply the golden rule. Your nude beach conduct should be the same as your textile world conduct. Practice politeness and consideration.
- Respect the privacy of others. If there is a lot of room, then give people a respectable distance. Recognize when you are unwelcome.
- Never walk on the dunes. Respect wildlife and environmentally fragile areas. Some places were never meant for humans to tread.
- Avoid endangering the natural habitat with fire, pollution, or even potentially dangerous foodstuffs.
- Public sexual activity is inappropriate and illegal. Your beach neighbors may call the sheriff when inconsiderate individuals violate lewdness prohibitions.
- Please help keep the beach clean and remove your trash. The beach is not an ashtray. Carry out cigarette butts. Pack it in, pack it out, and leave only footprints.
- No glass containers on the beach. Bring non-breakable eat-ware. Practice safety.
- Pets are not permitted on the beach. Nearby Walton Rocks Beach (two miles south) is the only designated "dog beach" in St. Lucie County.
- Refrain from generating noise pollution. Use earphones or keep radio volume low. At the beach you are invited to experience nature's sounds. Listen to her.
- Please exercise common courtesy with cameras. Do not photograph people without their permission. Practice politeness by asking first. Never photograph any children but your own.
- Gawking is rude, just as in clothed society. Refrain from this uncivil behavior.
- Dress before leaving naturist beach areas. The parking lot and trail are for the dressed.
- You are encouraged to walk along the shoreline, where the sand is firm. Not only is it more refreshing, you'll avoid kicking sand up as you pass others.
- Observe all local beach rules, safety regulations, county ordinances, and state laws. Review posted signs with beach rules and regulations, including park closing hours.
- When the situation fits, consider carrying a towel when you leave your beach spot. This cloth barrier can serve as an impromptu (and considerate) wrap when encountering unexpected textiles, or as a hygienic place to sit on unprotected benches.
- Reminder: Public sexual activity is inappropriate and illegal. Florida statutes 800.03 & 800.04 provide for misdemeanor and felony penalties for public lewd behavior.
