

November 2016

Dear Counselor:

The office of Federal Student Aid, U.S. Department of Education, would like to share some updates to assist you in working with students.

Changes to the FAFSA[®] for the 2017–18 Application Cycle

The 2017–18 Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA[®]) season began earlier than previous FAFSA application cycles. Since Oct. 1, 2016, students have been able to fill out the FAFSA for the 2017–18 school year. (In the past, the FAFSA didn't launch until Jan. 1). In addition, applicants no longer need to estimate income and tax information and have been able to retrieve their data directly from the IRS right from the day the FAFSA launched. Students also now have information about their Expected Family Contributions earlier, helping them as they're going through the college application and selection process.

Visit FinancialAidToolkit.ed.gov/fafsa-changes to learn more about the 2017–18 changes and to access a number of fact sheets, presentations, graphics, frequently asked questions, and other resources that you can use in your FAFSA outreach. That page links to our resources search tool, where you can filter your search by topic (e.g., FAFSA in general or 2017–18 FAFSA in particular). You also can download a PDF at FinancialAidToolkit.ed.gov/resources/federal-student-aid-resources-for-fafsa.pdf to see a portable list of the FAFSA-related resources we've created or updated for the 2017–18 FAFSA launch.

Accessing our Informational Resources

Did you know that Federal Student Aid produces dozens of informational resources that are available online? Page 4 of this letter lists just a small sampling of our brochures, videos, and infographics; be sure to take a look at FinancialAidToolkit.ed.gov/resources to find many more items to supplement your outreach to students and parents. (Note: Your students can access our informational resources at StudentAid.gov/resources.)

Ordering Print Publications

Some of our documents are available in print from FSAPubs.gov. Your school or organization will need an ML number (a number that identifies your office) in order to log in at the site. If you don't have an ML number, you may call the toll-free hotline on the home page of the site to request one. Please be sure to provide your email address once you've logged in at the FSA Pubs site so we can communicate with you more effectively. You also can change your postal address or other contact information at that site.

Note: Students and parents can order publications at edpubs.gov and can download electronic versions of publications, videos, and infographics at StudentAid.gov/resources.

Paper FAFSA® Forms Discontinued Starting in 2017–18

Starting with the 2017–18 award year, the preprinted FAFSA® is no longer available. The preprinted FAFSA is the booklet version of the FAFSA. The PDF FAFSA is still available for download across multiple Federal Student Aid websites (e.g., fafsa.gov, StudentAid.gov/resources, and FinancialAidToolkit.ed.gov/resources). Students without internet access can obtain print-outs of the PDF FAFSA from edpubs.gov or from 1-877-4-ED-PUBS (1-877-433-7827). Students may request up to five copies of the PDF FAFSA print-out and should receive the copies in three to seven business days after ordering.

Events for You and Your Students

Enhance your professional development! Visit FinancialAidToolkit.ed.gov/training to find live and online events at which Federal Student Aid will offer counselor-focused training.

We also reach out to students online on a regular basis. Tell your students to visit StudentAid.gov/events to find any upcoming webinars on a variety of financial aid topics. Also listed are the dates and topics for #AskFAFSA Office Hours—a monthly event during which Federal Student Aid hosts a live question-and-answer session on Twitter using the #AskFAFSA hashtag.

Find More Information and Updates on the Financial Aid Toolkit

Remember to visit FinancialAidToolkit.ed.gov to explore information and resources we've provided for you to use as you advise students about federal student aid.

Thank you and have a successful FAFSA season.

Sincerely,
