Stages of Human Life – Month 3

“I can suck my thumb now!” The baby now sleeps and awakens. Fingernails and toenails form and (s)he now has his/her own unique set of fingerprints. Sensitive to touch, (s)he will tightly grasp an object placed in the palm of his/her hand. (S)he breathes amniotic fluid to help develop and strengthen the respiratory system, but (s)he gets the oxygen (s)he needs through the umbilical cord. (S)he can now squint, swallow and move his/her tongue. In fact, early this month – around 9 weeks – (s)he began to suck his/her thumb. © 2001 Linda Brenegan Used with permission. Visit the back of the church and check out the poster to see what I look like at 3 Months. There are also brochures detailing the entire nine months of development.
