Grace & Peace : From the Pastor's Desk

Pastor Karen will be on vacation July 8-15.

Just before vacation I completed a book by Danielle Steele, not my usual read! (I'm more of a mystery/suspense novel reader.) However, this book had me captivated. It was about a young, single woman who gave up the life she had created for herself to care for her orphaned, brain injured niece. Her niece had been a successful child actor before an auto accident took away the life of her mother, and the life the girl had prior to the accident. The book tells the (fictional) story of how the young woman cared for her niece through thick and thin, not letting anything dissuade her from her goal of bringing her niece back to as much of a productive life as possible. She had reset the priorities in her life and changed her focus.

Matthew 15 contains a conversation between Jesus and the Pharisees about tradition and purity. The pharisees were accusing Jesus' disciples of breaking tradition by not washing their hands before eating. Jesus highlighted the Pharisees' hypocrisy, emphasizing that it's not what goes into the mouth of a person that defiles a person, but what comes out of it. Jesus was redirecting their focus from external rituals to their heart's condition. He declared that what defiles a person comes from the heart and is not caused by what a person consumes.

Jesus listed several unclean things that come out of our mouths that actually come from our hearts. From our hearts come evil thoughts, sexual immorality, and slander. The mouth simply reveals what has been in our hearts all along.

It is critical to prioritize the state of our hearts over the performance of religious duties. Jesus said, "These people honor me with their lips, but their hearts are far from me." God's presence is not dependent on our outward practices but on our inward commitment and love for God. God desires hearts that are devoted to God more than merely complying with tradition. It is critical to do some internal "housecleaning" to discover, through confession and repentance, what evil lurks in our hearts. Is it time for us to "refocus" our desires to live the life God requires?

I am available to talk with you about anything. I'm in the office Tuesdays from 1-3 p.m. and Thursday mornings from 9:30 a.m. until 2:00 p.m. The office phone is 814-833-4062 or you can call my cell phone anytime 724-557-2386 just leave a message if I don't answer and I will return the call.

We are more than excited to announce that Allan Slovenkay has accepted the position of Music Director and organist here at Immanuel Lutheran Church. Allan's music background and reputation amongst his peers is unequaled.

We have been truly blessed to have Allan as a permanent part of our Immanuel Family, even though he has always been considered to be a part of our church family.

Allan, we welcome you to our church and wish you our best.

It is with saddened hearts and feelings of loss that your Church Council has accepted Bryan's letter of resignation emeritus serving out his term and holding after his retirement., his honorary title corresponding to that held during his active service at Immanuel Lutheran Church.

Bryan has served our congregation for over 25 years, unselfishly sharing his talents as music director and organist. He has brought this congregation so many different music venues, heightening our worship experiences.

We will miss your smile and genuine love for us, our church and our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ.

Bryan, this is not a goodbye. We pray for your success in this new adventure in your life! We love you!

Robert L. Dorler, Council President

A breakfast to honor Bryan as he ends his career as Organist/Choir Director with Immanuel will be held on July 28th following worship. Everyone is invited to attend as we wish Bryan well on his new journey, whatever that may be. Please let Brenda know by July 19th if you will be attending so that there will be ample time to order what is needed for this special event.

Robert Dorler, Council President
Immanuel Lutheran Church
1002 Powell Avenue
Erie, PA 16505

Bob:

It is with heavy heart and mixed emotions that I share with you that my last day serving Immanuel in the capacity of Organist/Choir Director will be July 28, 2024. I cannot begin to express the gratitude that I have for the Immanuel community during my twenty-five-year tenure. During this time my life has been enriched by the relationships and opportunities provided by Immanuel and its congregation.

Although some may speculate that my departure is due to another similar opportunity, I can assure you that this decision comes after reflection on my life circumstances and the current environment of Immanuel. With twenty-five years behind me, I truly feel that I have provided everything that I possibly can to my Immanuel family and it is now time for me to move on.

My decision to officially notify you at this time is to hopefully allow for a transition over the low attendance of the summer months to allow for planning for a new choir season. I strongly suggest that you consider the engagement of Allan Slovenkay to fill the position for the foreseeable future. Allan brings a comprehensive musical offering that aligns with the traditions of Immanuel. His flexibility and familiarity with ILC will allow further opportunities that I cannot. His familiarity with Immanuel would allow smooth transition and retain other benefits such as allowing me to continue maintenance on the pipe organ. I have discussed this possibility with him privately and he is receptive to the idea should council feel it the best course of action.

I leave all of this for your consideration and would entertain continued conversation as to how to properly and respectfully notify the congregation.

Respectfully,

Bryan M. Timm

 Good luck
we will miss you

15. Who was the first recorded person raised from death to life?

The Continental Congress approved the final wording of the Declaration of Independence on July 4, 1776. They'd been working on it for a couple of days after the draft was submitted on July 2nd and finally agreed on all of the edits and changes.

July 4, 1776, became the date that was included on the Declaration of Independence, and the fancy handwritten copy that was signed in August (the copy now displayed at the National Archives in Washington, D.C.) It's also the date that was printed on the Dunlap Broadside, the original printed copies of the Declaration that were circulated throughout the new nation. So when people thought of the Declaration of Independence, July 4, 1776 was the date they remembered.

In contrast, we celebrate Constitution Day on September 17th of each year, the anniversary of the date the Constitution was signed, not the anniversary of the date it was approved. If we'd followed this same approach for the Declaration of Independence we'd be celebrating Independence Day on August 2nd of each year, the day the Declaration of Independence was signed!

How did the Fourth of July become a national holiday?

For the first 15 or 20 years after the Declaration was written, people didn't celebrate it much on any date. It was too new and too much else was happening in the young nation. By the 1790s, a time of bitter partisan conflicts, the Declaration had become controversial. One party, the Democratic-Republicans, admired Jefferson and the Declaration. But the other party, the Federalists, thought the Declaration was too French and too anti-British, which went against their current policies.

By 1817, John Adams complained in a letter that America seemed uninterested in its past. But that would soon change.

After the War of 1812, the Federalist party began to come apart and the new parties of the 1820s and 1830s all considered themselves inheritors of Jefferson and the Democratic-Republicans. Printed copies of the Declaration began to circulate again, all with the date July 4, 1776, listed at the top. The deaths of Thomas Jefferson and John Adams on July 4, 1826, may even have helped to promote the idea of July 4 as an important date to be celebrated.

Celebrations of the Fourth of July became more common as the years went on and in 1870, almost a hundred years after the Declaration was written, Congress first declared July 4 to be a national holiday as part of a bill to officially recognize several holidays, including Christmas. Further legislation about national holidays, including July 4, was passed in 1939 and 1941.

Grown-Up Camp

Green Corner NWPA Synod

Stories begin “once upon a time”. When we hear those words we are transported to a time when living in the world God gave us was different. The Green Team asked people to transport themselves back to an earlier time and share how life was better in terms of living more ecologically.

Many comments we received concerned the production of food.

- They did not use pesticides or herbicides in their gardens.
- Plow horses were used even when tractors were widely available.
- Home baked goods did not contain preservatives.
- Families had a cow that was milked by hand or milk was delivered in glass bottles which would be reused.
- The manure produced by farm animals was spread on the farm.
- Families composted food waste.
- Grass clippings were used to produce mulch.
- Almost every part of an animal was used when butchered.
- Meat would be canned in the absence of refrigeration.
- A meat-grinder to make their own ham salad for the family.

Most children wore hand-me-down clothes that were passed on. Clothing was made at home and new material was scarce. Animal feed sacks were used to make clothes for the kids.

Churches used glass communion cups and church dinners were served on china plates with real silverware.

Several commented on ways that we are not living green today. A woman who worked in medicine said people were encouraged to flush medicines down the toilet. Today they are collected at pharmacies or police stations and disposed. It was shared about when piles of used tires could be seen along roads. Sometimes huge smoky fires would burn for days when tires were burned. We realize now that the effects on the environment was devastating. Today’s recycling of tires is good for the planet – but extra work. The same can be said about the recycling of plastics, glass, electronics and other items. Sometimes living green is more work – but much better for the environment.

Each month our Green Team publishes the “Green Corner. Many churches reproduce this in their bulletins or newsletters. To receive the “Green Corner”, that comes by e-mail, please contact the Green Team nwpasynodgreenteam@gmail.com

The Green Team’s purpose is to “raise awareness of and advocate for the care of creation.” Our mission is to support and encourage creation care ministries, raise awareness, model creation care advocacy consistent with ELCA teachings in our faith communities and public life.

A Short Glimpse into the History of Stained Glass Windows.

Evidence of stained glass windows have been documented in British monasteries as early as the 7th century, with the earliest known reference being 675 AD when Benedict Biscop commissioned French workmen to create the stained glass for the windows of the monastery of St Peter. In the 10th century, biblical scenes were seen in stained glass windows in churches in Germany and France as well as decorative stained glass in England.

During the middle ages is when stained glass really peaked in popularity, this was due to it's illustrative portrayal of the bible to a population, which was mostly illiterate. This period known as the Romanesque and early Gothic period saw the building of great cathedrals and churches, which were taller and lighter than ever before. The great window arches required large expanses of stained glass to fill them. In this era the stained glass artists used many pieces of coloured glass joined together by lead to create intricate designs and patterns, which had enormous complexity. The stained glass windows were complex and illustrated the stories of the bible and the lives of saints. However, the artists were not interested in how realistic the designs were, they emphasised more on illustration and ideas. This was reflected in their finished windows, which consisted of vividly coloured glass and sometime unsophisticated paintwork, nonetheless the windows created a beautiful atmosphere of light and colour in the churches and cathedrals in which they resided.

However, in the 15th Century the way that stained glass was made and viewed changed. The style evolved from the Gothic style to Classical. This new style portrayed stained glass more like a translucent picture, paler colours were used and the windows incorporated larger figures. The new style of stained glass lasted for about 300 years, It was viewed as a more sophisticated style and the glass painting reflected this. Lead lines were viewed as more of an obstruction of the picture rather than a decorative item. The finished result looked more like a a panel painting, and eventually most stained glass was made from white panels that were heavily painted to create the finished window. The stained glass of this era seemed to loose all of their previous glory and the atmosphere and symbolism that stained glass used to create was lost.

It was during this period, however, that stained glass became prominent in public buildings and houses. Painted details on simple transparent backgrounds were often seen. During the 18th century the removal of medieval stained glass was commonplace, the windows were destroyed and replaced with painted glass.

However, In the mid 1800's, due to the revival of the Catholic church in England, a resurgence in Gothic architecture was seen. Many new churches and cathedrals were built and many old churches were restored. This resulted in the rediscovery of medieval stained glass techniques and the demand for stained glass in the old Gothic style that we most commonly associate stained glass with today.

Zesty Southern Cucumber Salad Recipe

- 3 tablespoons white wine vinegar
- 2 tablespoons olive oil
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 3 peeled and thinly sliced (about 2 lbs) cucumbers
- 1 (10 oz) container sliced in half grape tomatoes
- 1/2 medium very thinly sliced into half moons Vidalia onion
- 2 tablespoons chopped dill
- to taste kosher salt

freshly ground, to taste black pepper

In a large bowl, whisk together the vinegar, olive oil and sugar.

Toss in the cucumbers, tomatoes, onion and dill, and season with salt and pepper.
Let marinate at room temperature for 20 minutes before serving.
