What is Brazilian Embroidery?

Brazilian Embroidery (B.E.) is hand embroidery using z-twist 100% rayon threads. This type of rayon thread has a high sheen and is capable of supporting three dimensional embroidery stitching. Brazilian Embroidery is washable which makes it a good choice to use on clothing and linens. It is also used to embellish quilts and framed works of art.

The Brazilian Dimensional Embroidery International Guild (BDEIG) was formed in 1991 as a non-profit organization to promote the art of Brazilian Embroidery through seminars, newsletters, website, and workshops. BDEIG has worldwide membership.

Why You Should Join BDEIG

Find fellow B.E. enthusiasts and teachers

Receive The B.E. Wrap-Up (quarterly publication) with free education designs, tips, and news of interest to B.E.

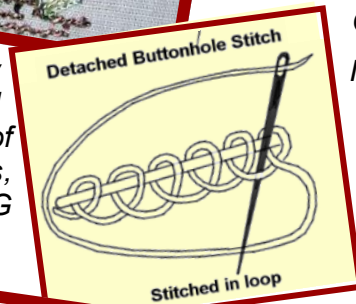

Eligible to attend the annual seminar — five days of classes from instructors throughout the world (one of the most affordable needle art seminars available)

Advertise your embroidery business in The B.E. Wrap-Up

Find a world of friends who share your interest in this needle art

Memberships start at only $25 per year
