

In The Tradition

In The Tradition started playing as a band in 1995. Centrally VA based in Lynchburg, they keep the traditional sound of Bluegrass alive with their renditions of the masters; Bill Monroe, The Stanley Brothers, Country Gentleman, Mac Wiseman, Osborne Brothers, among others. They also have covers of many REAL country songs from the past and a little rock-n-roll spiced in there along with originals written by Donnie Mason and his son, Scott.

The band, literally, is a family. Donnie Mason playing mandolin, is front man and lead vocals. His son, Scott plays banjo and lead guitar. Scott's wife, Tammy plays upright bass and vocals. Her father, Ray Green plays guitar and vocals. George Evans plays Dobro and vocals. The newest full time member is Scott & Tammy's son, Jeremy, who is 10 years old, plays mandolin and vocals... and whatever else he gets into.

The band has recorded 10 CDs and plays shows not only in their home state of VA, but also GA, KY, MD, NC, SC and PA.
