Dear Robinson Windword, Inc.:

This letter will confirm that you are interested in receiving certain confidential and proprietary information pertaining to a new product for the purpose of evaluating the same and determining your interest in entering into a relationship in this regard.

The information relating to the Invention under consideration is propriety information of considerable value, some or all of which is or may become the subject matter of copyright, trademark, and/or patent protection. Before disclosing this information to you, I must have your assurance that you, your employees, agents, and those whom you have the right to control will hold this information in confidence and secrecy for a period of at least five (5) years from the date written above, and will make no use of the information for your own benefit of the others during that period.

As used in this agreement, "confidential information" means information relating to the Invention, including scientific, construction, design, manufacturing and marketing information and materials related thereto, and using the same, disclosed by us or on our behalf to you, either directly or indirectly, verbally or in writing. The confidential information disclosed pursuant to this agreement may not be reproduced in whole or in part without our prior written consent, and is to be disclosed only to persons whom you have the right to control and who require such disclosure in connection with your evaluation of the Invention.

You, of course, would be under no obligation and would be released from any obligation hereunder when and to the extent that the confidential information is disclosed to you:

- (a) Is now available to the public in a tangible form anywhere in the world;
- (b) Becomes available to the public in a publication in tangible form anywhere in the world through no cause due to you, your employees, agents or those whom you have the right to control or to whom have disclosed the information;
- (c) Is already in your possession and you have documentary evidence to that effect; or;
- (d) Is received from a third party who is not under obligation of confidence to us.

Obviously, copyright, trademark, and patent laws would be applicable should any U.S. copyright, trademark, or patent or any foreign registration issue on the subject Business.

In the event that you breach any part of this agreement, whether through the implementation of Business or any similar enterprise or the use of the Business materials disclosed hereunder or otherwise, you understand that remedies will include, but will not be limited to injunctive relief and/or reasonable compensation based on industry custom and standards.

If this agreement is acceptable to you, please indicate your acceptance by signing and returning this to us a copy of this letter. This original may be retained for your files. We shall then disclose to you the nature of the Invention.

Sincerely,

ACCEPTED AND AGREED TO
